DISPATCH FROM GEN. FREMONT.

WASHINGTON, Manday, June 9.

The following dispatch was received at the War Department to-day, by telegraph from Front Royal:

HEADQUARTERS MOUNTAIN DEPARTMENT,
ARMY IN THE FIELD, HARRISONBURGH, June 7.

Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

The army reached this place at 2 o'clock yesterday, driving out the enemy's rear guard from the town. Severe skirmishing continued from that time till dark, the enemy's rear being closely pressed by our advance. At 4 o'clock, the First New-Jersey Cavalry, after driving the enemy through the village, fell into an ambuscade in the woods, to the southeast of the town, in which Col. WYNDHAM, of that regiment, was captured, and considerable loss sustained. Col. CHESERET, with his brigade, subsequently engaged the enemy in the timber, driving him from his position and taking his camp. At about 8 o'clock a battalion of Col. KANE'S Pennsylvania Regiment entered the woods, under the direction of Brig.-Gen. BAYARD, and maintained for half an hour a vigorous attack, (in which both sides suffered severely,) driving the enemy. The enemy attempted to shell our troops, but a few shots from one af our batteries soon silenced his guns. After dark the enemy continued his retreat. Full particulars will be forwarded by mail.

J. C. FREMONT, Major-General.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 9.

The following was received here to-night from the Special Correspondent of the TIMES:

TWO MILES BEYOND NEW-MARKET, Thursday, June 5.

JACKSON'S army encamped in the vicinity of New-Market last night, and marched at three o'clock this morning. Our troops crossed the river on the pontoon at about twelve to-day. Our scouts sighted about twenty rebel cavalry this afternoon.

A correspondent of the Herald, captured by JACKSON at Front Royal with Col. KENLY, was released at New-Market on parole this morning.

From all I can gather, JACKSON'S army is 16,000 or 20,000 strong. Many of the men are barefooted, and all are worn out by their long marches, and in poor condition for fighting. The enemy to-day have amused themselves by burning the little bridges along the turnpike road, but we make the people of the nearest houses extinguish the fires and repair the bridges. With good luck we may run the mountain fox to death yet.

HARRISONBURGH, Va., Friday, June 6.
via MOREFIELD, Monday, June 9.

We had a slight engagement with the enemy two miles out from this place to-day. They were in ambuscade in the woods.

Col. WYNDHAM, of the First New-Jersey Cavalry, was wounded and taken prisoner.

Capt. SHELMIERE probably killed.

Captains HAYNES and CLARK are wounded and missing, and Lieut. ELAMEST, of the fourth New-York Mounted Rifles. None were concerned in the first brush but cavalry.

Subsequently, about one hundred and fifty of the Pennsylvania Bucktails, commanded by Lieut.-Col. KANE, were deployed through the woods as skirmishers, but found themselves ambushed by several regiments. The brave Bucktails stood their ground nobly until the command was decimated. I cannot praise them as they deserve by telegraph, and must reserve it for a letter.

Col. KANE is wounded, and a prisoner.

Capt. TAYLOR shared his fate.

Capt. BLANCHARD is wounded in the knee.

I shall not attempt to give a list of the killed and wounded now, as it would necessarily be so imperfect, and so much depends on report and conjecture, as to be unreliable as well as cruel. Let all who have friends in the commands indicated believe them alive until they are officially reported dead. I will forward a complete list of the killed, wounded and missing to-morrow.

The enemy had artillery. The affair of to-day was simply a skirmish, as Gen. FREMONT did not desire to bring on a general engagement at so late an hour.

The people here say that JACKSON intended to make a stand at Fort Republic, a small place about twelve miles distant. He is heading that way.

I will this evening write you a letter giving particulars of to-day's affairs, as I was in the midst of one and a near witness of the other.

REPORT FROM THE PRESS CORRESPONDENT.

HARRISONBURGH, Friday, June 6.

The advance guard of Gen. FREMONT reached Harrisonburgh this afternoon, at 2 o'clock. There was no fighting during the march. JACKSON camped here last night, and left this morning. A cavalry force was sent on a reconnoissance four miles beyond the town, which came on a large rebel force of cavalry and infantry, strongly posted in the woods. Col. WYNDHAM, who had pushed the reconnoissance three miles further than ordered: rashly led forward the First New-Jersey Cavalry, and was driven back by infantry in ambush. Col. WYNDHAM is a prisoner, and Capts. SHELLMINE and HAINES killed, or severely wounded, and prisoners; Capt. CHARLES is missing. All the officers bravely and vainly endeavored to rally their men. Capt. JANEWAY gallantly attempted a flanking movement, which covered the retreat of the first battalion. He is unhurt. The regiment lost 35 in killed, wounded and missing.

Gen. BAYARD, with the Bucktails or KANE Rifles, and First Pennsylvania, cavalry, and CLUYET'S brigade of the Sixtieth Ohio and Eighth Virginia, were ordered forward to the support, and drove the body of the enemy from their position and captured their camp and some stores, with loss. The KANE rifles numbering 125 men, found themselves opposed and flanked in the woods by four regiments of infantry and cavalry and before they could be withdrawn, suffered severely. Lieut.-Col KANE is seriously wounded, and a prisoner. Capt. TAYLOR was also wounded and captured. Capt. W. F. BLANCHARD was wounded severely. Lieut. J. J. S. WAYNE was probably killed. After a most gallant fight, the Rifles were driven back, with a loss of fifty-five killed, wounded and missing. The rebels brought up their artillery, and used it with effect. JACKSON is thought to have left the main road, and has either halted the main column for battle or greatly strengthened his rear guard and posted his trains, which are in confusion, on the road.

IMPORTANT FROM SOUTH CAROLINA

The National Forces Investing Charleston.

Landing of Troops on Battery and John Islands.

REBEL REPORTS OF AN ENGAGEMENT.

An Important Expedition from Beaufort to Pocotaligo.

Railroad Communication Between Charleston and Savannah Destroyed.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, June 9.

The following dispatches are taken from Southern papers received in Baltimore:

CHARLESTON, Tuesday, June 3.

The Federal gunboats are mowing up, as if to engage our batteries. The greatest excitement prevails, as the gunboats are in sight at times. Every confidence is expressed in Gen. GIST'S ability to drive the invaders off.

CHARLESTON, Wednesday, June 4—A. M.

The enemy landed this morning 2,000 strong at James Island, opposite the city. A battle took place. The enemy were repulsed and twenty men taken prisoners by the forces of Gen. GIST. The prisoners will be sent to Selma, Ala., immediately. There is still heavy firing in the direction of James Island, and it is rumored that a hundred more Yankees have been cut off and captured.

CHARLESTON, Wednesday, June 4—P. M.

Gen. GIST'S last dispatch says:

"The prisoners taken this morning report that the enemy landed 1,700 strong on Battery Island, and on John Island. The enemy is now in front of me in force, and under cover of his gunboats. An advance is imminent."

THE RAILROAD BETWEEN CHARLESTON AND SAVANNAH CUT.

We find the following important intelligence in the New-Haven Courier, of yesterday. Its bearing upon the above news from Charleston will be at once perceived:

"The First Connecticut Battery, with a Pennsylvania and Massachusetts regiment, under Col. CRIST, started from Beaufort, S. C., on the night of the 28th ult., and proceeded to Pocotaligo, where they destroyed the railroad between Savannah and Charleston, after driving off a thousand rebels who guarded it. They lost two killed and five wounded, and remained in possession of the road for two days, when the rebels were strongly reinforced and our troops returned to Beaufort, having successfully achieved the purpose of their visit."

Rev. Dr. Stiles—A Correction.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The friends of Rev. Dr. STILES have seen with surprise the statement made in your paper of this morning, to the effect that a letter from him had been received in New-Haven, containing certain details respecting the Confederate army in Richmond.

One thoroughly acquainted with the facts begs leave to state, to the best of his knowledge, no letters have been received from Dr. STILES, by any of his friends in New-Haven, since the stoppage of the mails. His family hear but seldom, and the only letter from him which has reached New-Haven for some time past, contained no such statements as those quoted in your issue of this morning. It should be added, that Dr. STILES writes that his whole time and thoughts are absorbed by his ministerial work, as an evangelist of the Synod of Virginia, in which it has pleased God greatly to bless his efforts.

FROM GEN. M'CLELLAN'S ARMY.

No Reinforcements Received by the Enemy

A New Line of Pickets Established by Our Army.

Gen. Prim Taking a Look at the Rebels.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Monday, June 9.

A contraband, who left Richmond this morning, arrived to-day. No reinforcements had been received, nor were there any signs of evacuation.

A Captain, Lieutenant and two privates, belonging to Gen. BURNS' Brigade, were killed yesterday, and 15 men wounded while establishing an advanced picket line. The new position was held.

Gen. PRIM and Staff occupied the day in reviewing the reserve batteries and Gen. PORTER'S Division. They also visited our outposts and had a view of the enemy.

OUR CORRESPONDFNCE FROM THE ADVANCE.

The Inundation of the Chickahominy—The Late Battles—Justice to Gen. Sumner—His Energy and Daring—Movements on the Right—Arduous Duties of Gen. Stoneman's Command.

MECHANICSVILLE, Va., Thursday, June 5, 1862.

The sudden rise in the waters of the Chickahominy on Friday, the day before the battle of Fair Oaks, placed our army in a very critical condition. It was, in fact, divided, and fearful apprehensions were felt for the fate of our left wing, which was across the river, and vigorously attacked by the enemy.

The opportunity was a golden one for the enemy' The sudden and extensive rise of the river prevented the right wing from aiding the left, and the left reserves could only be crossed with difficulty. The enemy, ever wary, threw forward his best troops at the right moment, in numbers far surpassing ours, and for a time was successful.

And here let me refer to a turn in the tide of the battle, in which an opportunity was offered and improved by that veteran patriot, Gen. SUMNER, to redeem himself from the charges wrongfully made, and never sustained or proved, relative to his conduct at the battle of Williamsburgh. I care not what may be said, one thing is certain, that among those who are uninfluenced by motives of a certain nature, the credit of turning the tide of battle in our favor is wholly given to Gen. SUMNER, and the excellent corps which he commands. The passage of the Chickahominy by the Divisions of Gens. RICHARDSON and SEDGWICK, under difficulties that would seem insuperable—their rapid march to the scene of conflict, when our right wing was falling back before the overwhelming onslaught of the enemy—their quick formation into line of battle and unequaled bayonet charge, with their gallant chief at their head, is the subject of universal praise by the entire army.

The movements on the right wing of the army since the battle of Hanover Court-house and the destruction of the railroad bridge at Ashland, are unimportant. The Eighth Illinois Cavalry have daily scouted the country between that point and the place from whence I write, and although occasionally running across small parties of rebel scouts, have seen no demonstrations that would indicate another flanking movement, such as they attempted last week. The rise of the river, or swamp, would operate against any movement on their part, as there is now but one crossing place held by them over which they could, in any event, throw troops. There are, perhaps, two brigades of the enemy on the other side of the river, above Mechanicsville, but they have railroad facilities extending far enough to enable them to concentrate a large force there at any moment. The light brigade of Gen. STONEMAN keeps careful watch of their every motion, and should a flanking movement be attempted, they will find our army not unprepared. Too much praise cannot be given to this command of Gen. STONEMAN for the energy displayed, and hardship endured, in the extreme advance of the army.

It has been my good fortune to be thrown in company frequently with the Eighth Illinois Cavalry, under Col. FARNSWORTH, who have accompanied the brigade and been foremost in the perils and dangers of leading the way for the balance of our army. For days they have been compelled to go with horses unsaddled, passing sleepless nights, in rain and storm, on picket; or standing by the heads of their steeds, to be ready at the first picket alarm to repel the advance of the enemy. It has been a constant skirmish with them since leaving Williamsburgh, and their duties have been more arduous, (and attended with equal danger,) than have those of that portion of the army who have engaged in the great battles of the Peninsula.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

COLORED SCHOOLS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Meeting at Dr. Tyng's Church—Address of Mr. Collyer—Facts About the Opening and Closing of the Schools—Interviews with Gen. Burnside and Gov. Stanly.

On Sunday night Mr. VINCENT COLLYER spoke to a large audience at St. George's Chapel. Mr. COLLYER is a member of Dr. TYNG's Church, and has been employed and sustained by his brethren in Missionary enterprises, of which his operations at Newbern are but a part, for some months.

It is his custom upon his return to the City from any field of labor, to report to the Church the results of his work, and it was in pursuance of this custom that the meeting of last night was held.

The room was filled to its utmost capacity, and hundreds were unable to obtain admittance.

After the preliminary services, Dr. TYNG, who, with Mr. COLLYER, occupied the pulpit, spoke as follows:

DR. TYNG'S REMARKS.

Ten months ago Mr. COLLYER went out as the missionary of this people, and worked faithfully as such, from the Bull Run battle till the month of January, in the hospitals at Washington, sustained by the willing contributions of this people. He had for a long time labored here as a faithful Sunday School teacher and friend of the poor, in that capacity had gained our high regard, and we felt we had sent out a man from whom we might expect great and glorious results. He continued in that sphere of duty up to last January, and had returned to give an account of his success, when the news came that Gen. BURNSIDE had taken possession of Roanoke Island.

Mr. COLLYER was about returning to Washington in the furtherance of his mission, when I proposed to him to go to North Carolina to look after the wounded soldiers, and to exercise the spirit of kindness to the many sufferers in Gen. BURNSIDE's army. He left for that place, charged not only with that, but with other duties. By the kindness of the General, he followed in the military family of BURNSIDE himself. He there ministered to the necessities of the poor and helpless; he fed the hungry and clothed the naked; he distributed variously for the Young Men's Christian Association and others, but his pecuniary support has been derived entirely from the Church that sent him out, and therefore it was natural that he should return to this Church when in the City, to report concerning the result of his mission. I should have been glad to have had a larger meeting, but it would have been an absurdity for him to expect to speak in our church, which is so large, and in which it is difficult for any one to make himself heard. I am thankful we are so crowded, and hope it will open the way for a second meeting in the Cooper Institute, where all may hear the words which he may speak.

He will speak to-night in relation to his ministry to the hospitals and to the blacks. In regard to the closing of the schools I know but little, but I have no doubt that it is the intention of the Government to reopen them, and to allow no hindrance to be put in their way. As President of the National Freedmen's Association, I naturally feel an interest in this matter.

So far as my interview with the Secretary of War is concerned, I wish to say that I have never revealed its purport, but some one has, for I have seen it in print, and as it is out, I have no objections to saying that he assured me in the most solemn manner that the Government would not permit such gross injustice to be done, and he himself would not belong to a Government which did. I have no doubt Mr. COLLYER has done all he has done with wisdom, caution, love to God and love to man, and with a full sense of his responsibility—first to his Maker, and second to the church which sent him forth. I have every confidence in him, and now introduce him to you, that he may tell his own story.

MR. COLLYER'S SPEECH.

After some apologetic and personal remarks, Mr. COLLYER said:

In regard to the opening and closing of the schools for the blacks, I will simply say that I found myself with leisure evenings, plenty of school-books, and many thousands of poor negroes who were anxious to be taught.

I did my duties in the daytime to the Government and the Associations who sent me out; but my evenings were my own, and I thought if I could bring them into harmony with the great mission of love which occupied my days, I had a right to. I had scarcely announced to the negroes that I should open my school, when I was crowded with applicants. I had 400 applications for books at once, and the first night 600 negroes, from the ages of 60 to 70 (one old man the ancestor of 50 children) down to children of 10 years old. (I had previously opened a school for the whites, having a natural love for our own kind first.) The colored school was kept open for three weeks, but the scholars varied so in attainments that I divided them into two schools; and when they were closed by suggestion of Gov. STANLY, I had 100 scholars who could write and read. I had thirty teachers, principally from the Twenty-fifth Massachusetts Regiment, who did great service, and who found pleasure in it, so that when they were compelled to move on, they expressed great regret at being obliged to give up their vocation as teachers.

I heard that the people of Newbern didn't like it; and one man (a Unionist) threatened that if it was not for the 10,000 bright bayonets which protected me, that something should be done which would not be very pleasant to me.

A great number of the citizens, however, liked it, and some of them had evidently taught their slaves at home, before we went there. The lady who I have engaged as the teacher has two brothers in the Southern army. She said she had taught her negroes for a number of years, although it is against the law. So that in North Carolina even, the law which Gov. STANLY wishes to enforce is regarded as odious, and as a black code. Well, the schools went on flourishingly and encouragingly. I lacked books, slates and other material, and when the Twenty-fifth went away I lacked teachers. The way I managed was this: I took one teacher for the Primary School, who taught en masse, and thirty teachers for the other school, where were the more proficient.

The primary teacher took a large sheet, and wrote upon it a sentence of the Bible, which, by careful teaching, he taught them to read, generally averaging two sentences a night. The schools were opened with a prayer and a hymn, and closed with a single verse and the benediction, which added dignity to it.

When the Governor arrived, as Superintendent of the Poor, I called upon him, and was received pleasantly and privately. He was very courteous and kind. He asked all about my office, and then stated there was one thing in it which he objected to, and that was the keeping of school for the blacks; that the laws of the State make it a criminal offence, and he was instructed to administer the laws as before this rebellion broke out. These were his instructions from Washington. He did not wish the schools closed abruptly, and, as a man and a Christian, he might have perhaps done as I had.

I had opened them by permission of Gen. FOSTER, but of course when a superior officer came, and told me I was doing wrong, I did what any loyal citizen should do in such times as these, I obeyed the intimation.

Next day came the question of the rendition of the slave, and I had to see him about that. I told him what I had done about the school. He thanked me for it, and told the General he was much pleased with the way in which I had done my duty.

Of the turning back of the

FUGITIVE SLAVE

I shall next speak. A number of negroes came into my quarters and said a man had come for a fugitive slave, who had the permission of the Governor to take back not only her but any other negroes whom he might claim. I had 5,000 negroes under my charge, and up to that time none had been taken away. Orders had been given to the pickets by Gen. BURNSIDE that all negroes should report to him. These negroes are practically free, and you can imagine how they felt when this new rule was announced.

This master claimed to be loyal, though I don't believe he is; that's an open question, however, though his brother is a Quartermaster in the rebel army. I found the Governor had given him authority, on his promising to take the oath—an oath which he did not take.

I told the General, who was very much surprised, and sent an Aid with me to see all about it. We reached the yard too late, however, to be of service, for the slave was taken, and we found the place filled with affrighted negroes, crying and wailing terribly. In the next hour, a girl came into my quarters, and asked if she might stay with me. I told her Yes, and set her to work on cartridge-bags for our army. She was about sixteen years old, and very prepossessing in appearance. I then went to the Governor and asked how these things were? He said he knew the man very well. I asked if he had taken the oath—not presumptuously, but because I had heard of the man before. He said No, but he had promised to, and he had given him authority to take his property.

I went back, and told the girl she had better keep out of sight for a few hours, while I went to see the General.

In came the man, and inquired for the girl. He had the right to go where he pleased, and went—went insolently and impudently all about the place. But the girl was too nimble for him; she saw him, and jumping over the fence, ran away at "double-quick."

I went to see the General, and he said he had no authority; that the Governor could order him wherever he chose; I went home a wiser and a sadder man; I wrote my resignation and took it to the General, but he told me to wait a bit; not to be in a hurry, and not to get excited.

That night two negroes, scouts, came in from 60 miles distant. They had been gone two weeks, and came back chock full of information. I took them to the General. In the meantime the most intense excitement prevailed among the negroes, and such a scene as we saw in the yard I hope never to see again. [Dr. TYNG—"God forbid."] There were these men who had been working for us, building bridges, getting information, making cartridge-bags, and building fortifications for our army, and yet they were to have no protection from that army. The men came up in tears, and the women were perfectly overcome; 20 that night didn't answer the roll-call. They had gone to the woods and the morasses, and had hid themselves. Many of them thought, as the dog would act by instinct, "If these people can't protect me, I'll go to the men who can," and they went to their masters. I reported the facts to the General, and told him of the scene, and when I took the slaves who had brought me the information to the General, he told me that the act of Congress which made it wrong for any officer to return fugitive slaves should be his law henceforth. The master found the girl, but he didn't keep her. A man went to the house where she was kept, took her from it, burned the house, and she escaped. And, when the master complained to the Governor, he told him that it would be just as well for him not to make any fuss about it just at that time.

I will now give you one or two facts about the negroes who come to us.

A family came into my house; the woman was dripping wet, hungry and tired, and we, of course, fed and clothed her. She had started down the Neuse River with her children, to "come to the Yankees." They rowed, after twilight, down the river, until a breeze came up, which rocked the canoe badly, and they put for the shallow water, where, however, the waves were higher. She jumped out, and, walking, kept the boat steady all the way—twelve miles—to Newbern. Her mistress said to her, the night she came away, "JUNO, this place is horrid; if you can make your way to the Yankees, do it. You see how poor we are, and how my children are compelled to suffer. Take this basket of eggs, and give them to Gen. BURNSIDE for me, and tell him if he can send here and rescue a good Union woman, to do so." But unfortunately the General had gone, and it was impossible to aid her.

A large, six-foot negro came into camp one day, and said he had been hard at work in the enemy's camp, but by good luck had got away. He came one night, in his ramblings, upon a large pile of cotton, high as a house, covered with brush. Said he, "If you can give me a flatboat and some men, we can get that cotton." We took a boat, twenty negroes, and one hundred men; everything depending upon CHARLIE's caution and skill, and in three days the steamboat came back laden with the cotton, which was of great value to us, as protection to our men in the gunboats. I have another one who came up with me, and who has got to go back with me, too. He said to me one day, "I can tell you how you can catch several hundred soldiers." He planned out all the details, and made it as clear as could be. In due time the General ordered the plan to be carried out. There were three regiments in the expedition; the negro riding ahead, surrounded by twenty cavalry. As they were going by a church, the little party being ahead, sixty of the rebels sprang out and sent them sky-high. SAM put for the woods, and the Colonel Commanding said, in making his report, that "if he had followed SAM's advice, as he should have done, they would have been entirely successful."

The negroes have the habit of never knowing anything when questioned by pickets, but wait until they get to headquarters before they tell the results of their observation.

Another negro came in who made 500 miles by a long circuit. He was able to write, and in that way he forged passes for himself the whole way.

We have never put a single man in the guard-house for disorder. There has never been a fight or any trouble of any kind with the negroes.

THE WHITE SCHOOL

is of the greatest interest. I have one of 60 children, and we teach them from 8 A. M. to 3 P. M. The furniture is very good, and everything looks beautifully. Gen. BURNSIDE takes a great deal of interest in it, and will do all he can to aid us. The families from whom these children come are more kindly disposed to our forces and our cause than any other. It costs me $450 a year to keep it up.

PROVISIONS.

We have 400 white families who come to us for provisions. Some of them have been rich, worth from $50,000 to $75,000. One of them owned ten large houses and had money in the bank, which she could not get. The question has been raised whether I have the right to give the things sent for the soldiers to these people, and the Press has criticised me only yesterday for it, but I knew some of the things came from St. George's Church, and I took the liberty of giving the poor women and children something to eat. We had fifteen or twenty families of soldiers who are in the rebel army. They were unable to get away, were left behind, and would starve if we did not feed them. What should be done? Of course we helped them.

We also have very many sick poor, and they have had no sympathy with the rebellion; they say they are glad we have come, and that the others are driven out.

We have 450 families of whites, averaging 4½, numbering 1,000; 1,000 colored families, averaging 5, numbering 5,000—making 6,000; to whom we have given 150 boxes hard bread, 80 barrels of flour, 20 barrels sugar, 16 barrels coffee, 26 tierces rice, 28 barrels pork, 25 barrels bacon, 12 boxes candles, 30 boxes soap, 2 boxes tea, 2 barrels salt, 6 barrels meal, 3 tierces hominy, 3 barrels molasses, &c., &c.; also, 140 boxes and barrels of choice stores from Christian Societies in the loyal States—all of which has been weighed out in little parcels.

I get through with the negroes before 8 A. M.; the whites from 8 to 3 P. M., and attend to the hospitals after that, and give the evenings to the schools.

Mr. COLLYER then entered at some length upon other matters of no particular public interest, after which Dr. TYNG spoke eloquently in praise of the work and the worker, and announced that a public meeting would be held on Tuesday (this) night, at Cooper Institute.

A liberal collection was then taken up, and the meeting closed with the benediction.

Aid for Pennsylvania Wounded Soldiers.

MEETING AT THE ASTOR HOUSE—PREPARATIONS FOR ORGANIZATION.

In response to an advertised call, a meeting of Pennsylvanians was held yesterday afternoon, at the Astor-house, for the purpose of effecting some permanent organization for the care of sick and wounded soldiers belonging to Pennsylvania, arriving at this port. Gov. CURTIN was expected to be present, but was detained by ill health. Mr. S. B. H. VANCE acted as President, and M. G. HART and L. HARWOOD as Secretaries.

Mr. S. NEWELL, who has been for some time acting, without pay, as the agent of Pennsylvania in this good work, briefly stated the object of the meeting. As Pennsylvania has furnished about one-fourth of the army, he expected that ere long we should have a large number of the sick and wounded from that State to be taken care of at this port. He had himself been doing all in his power, and expended all his available means, but he found the work too laborious and expensive for any one man.

The Pennsylvania sick at this port were quite scattered, some being at Park Barracks, New-England Hospital, Bedloe's Island, David's Island and City Hospital, where they received every attention—particularly from Col. HOWE and Col. BLISS. It therefore required a larger organization, and more men and means to properly do the work. He thought that some place should be provided large enough to accommodate the needy Pennsylvanians, and those of other States who might apply. In conclusion he nominated the following Committee on permanent organization: Stephen P. Russell, Andrew J. Hetrick, C. W. Burton, W. J. Bounce, E. S. Lockwood, Sam'l Milligan, Jr., Jerome Buck, Robert Lowry, Levi Rawling, A. F. Chur.

Upon motion the list was adopted and the officers of the meeting and Mr. S. NEWELL were added to the Committee.

Mr. CHARLES GOULD being called upon by Mr. NEWELL to explain the working of the New-England Association, said that it would be well for the Committee to understand that when they undertook to take care of sick and wounded soldiers, their office would be no sinecure. It would require the expenditure of much time and money. He had just been informed by Mrs. CURTIN that the Governor would not be present, but would be glad to confer with any committee to-morrow. He thought the Governor differed from Mr. NEWELL as to the number of Pennsylvanians likely to come under the care of the organization, as steps had been taken to have most of the sick and wounded Pennsylvanians sent home. He thought that as there was room in the New-England Hospital for more, it would be more economical and advisable in every way, to have the two organizations work together. The worst cases were always sent to the City Hospital and other institutions, where they could be best treated. There had been but two deaths at the New-England Hospital since its organization. He did not think it necessary to weary the meeting with details of the organization and duties of the New-England Association, but himself and the other officers would be glad to coöperate with any agent of Pennsylvania. He thought it would be well for Col. HOWE and Col. ALMY to confer with the Committee and see what arrangements could be made.

Mr. NEWELL said the main object was to have unity of action among Pennsylvanians. The New-England Hospital and the Park Barracks were often overcrowded, and it was desirable, if possible, to avoid that. He thought it better for Pennsylvanians to have a separate place.

Mr. CHUR thought that they were now discussing what they had referred to a Committee to determine. The first object was to obtain a full meeting of Pennsylvanians, and that it would be better to leave all these details to that Committee.

After some desultory conversation, it was decided that the Committee and such citizens of Pennsylvania as chose should meet Gov. CURTIN at the Brevoort House, at 3 o'clock, and a general meeting of Pennsylvanians and the Committee should be held at the Astor House, at 8 o'clock P. M., to-day.

Commissioners of Health.

UNITED STATES TRANSPORTS TO BE QUARANTINED.

The Commissioners of Health held their regular meeting yesterday, when the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Health Officer be requested to require observances of the Quarantine Regulations by the United States transport vessels, and to enforce the penalty incurred by the United States transport steamer Vanderbilt for violating those regulations in refusal to recognize the signal of the Health Office to stop for examination, and passing up to the City in disregard thereof, on her arrival on the 7th inst. The penalty is $250.

Mr. DELAVAN, City Inspector, presented a copy of his communication to the Commissioners of Charities and Corrections, together with the answer thereto, relative to the removal of bodies from the old "Potters' Field" on Third-avenue, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth streets, and in connection therewith the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That it is considered by this Board to be a legitimate duty of the Commissioners of Charities and Corrections to have the bodies remaining in the old Potters' Field removed to Ward's Island, and that they be requested to furnish the cases and have the remains removed accordingly.

The Board then adjourned until Thursday of the present week—Mondays and Thursdays being their days of regular session.

Board of Aldermen.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE CANALS—THE COMPLIMENTARY RESOLUTIONS TO ARCHBISHOP HUGHES—PRESENT OF A CONFEDERATE FLAG.

At the meeting of this Board, yesterday, resolutions introduced by Alderman BOOLE were unanimously passed urging Congress to pass the bill, now pending there, for the enlargement of locks on the Erie Canal for lake defences.

Alderman BOOLE moved a reconsideration of the resolutions passed at the last meeting, tendering a public reception to Archbishop HUGHES on his return from Europe.

Alderman GENET wanted to know the reason for the motion to reconsider, which Alderman BOOLE declined to give until after the vote was taken,

The motion to reconsider was carried, whereupon Alderman BOOLE offered a substitute for the former resolutions, indentical with them in preamble, &c., but tendering the thanks of the Board of Alderman to the Archbishop for his services abroad, instead of the freedom of the City and a public reception. In offering the substitute, Mr. BOOLE gave as a reason for his action a desire to avoid the objections urged in the Mayor's veto to similar resolutions complimentary to THURLOW WEED.

Alderman GENET opposed the substitute, and advocated the original resolutions. If the Mayor chose to veto them, let him take the responsibility; for one, he was ready to take the responsibility of voting for them, and he deemed them eminently due to the distinguished prelate, for his services in behalf of our common country.

Alderman DAYTON opposed both the original resolution and the substitute, and defended the veto of the Mayor in the matter of the Weed resolutions, as being entirely in accordance with, and required by the charter. The substitute, he said, would be a compliment without meaning or force, being nothing more than the thanks of this Board, without any concurrent action on the part of the other Board.

Alderman GENET moved to amend by inserting "Common Council," instead of "Board of Aldermen."

Alderman BOOLE said this would carry the paper before the Mayor.

Mr. GENET could not see what there was in a vote of thanks that the Mayor could find to veto.

The amendment was lost.

The resolutions were then adopted as presented, by a vote of 15 to 0, Alderman DAYTON declining to vote, on the ground that the Board had no right to pass such resolutions, unless they contemplated concurrent action on the part of the other Board.

Alderman BOOLE gave notice that, hereafter, if a member declined voting, he should move to place him in contempt.

Alderman DAYTON gave notice that, hereafter, when resolutions of that character were introduced, he should decline voting for them.

A communication was read from Col. WM. WILSON, of Wilson's Zouaves, tendering a present of a Confederate flag, captured by one of the Zouaves at the Pensacola Navy-yard. The thanks of the Board were returned for the present.

The report of the Committee on Lands and Places in favor of appropriating $12,000 from the Bureau of Lands and Places, to complete the parks in Fourth-avenue, was called up again, and discussed at length. Alderman DAYTON opposed it, as being contrary to the express terms of the Tax levy, to transfer an appropriation devoted to a specific purpose, and apply it to a different purpose.

Alderman GENET also opposed it, and thought it very strange that the Comptroller was so anxious to complete those parks on the Fourth-avenue, when he had persistently refused to take measures to complete Mount Morris-square, although the Legislature had long since appropriated $20,000 for that purpose.

The report was recommitted for a full statement of the facts.

After some routine business, the Board adjourned to Thursday, at 1 P. M.

Board of Councilmen.

$500,000 APPROPRIATED FOR FAMILIES OF VOLUNTEERS—RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE WITH THE FAMILY OF COL. J. L. RIKER—RECEPTION OF GEN. PRIM.

The regular meeting of the Board of Councilmen was held yesterday. The Mayor returned without approval a resolution authorizing the Comptroller to purchase the lot No. 195 Elizabeth-street for an engine company. A Committee of Conference with the Board of Aldermen was appointed, with reference to the ordinance appropriating $500,000 for the relief of the families of volunteers. The Committee on National Affairs was instructed to prepare and present resolutions of condolence with the family of J. LA FAYETTE RIKER. Resolutions of thanks, as passed by the Board of Aldermen, to Archbishop HUGHES, were unanimously concurred in. A communication was received from the Mayor, with reference to the official reception of Gen. PRIM, which will be found in the official proceedings. It is the same communication which was received at the last meeting, then noted, but not acted on. The session was, with the above exceptions, devoted to routine business of no public interest.

What is the Matter with the Croton?

NEW-YORK, Sunday, June 8, 1862.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

As constant readers of the TIMES, we have daily looked of late in the paper (where we generally find what information we seek) for some information accounting for the loss of the Croton water under which we housekeepers up town are suffering. Last year, at this time, it gave out above our first stories, and we were told that when the Fourth-avenue mains and High Bridge new pipe were laid, we should have an abundant supply of water. This hope was realised after six months' waiting, and we had a supply of water until June comes round again, when we are again deprived of the supply! As it cannot be those mains now, pray "What is it?" Are we to suffer another six months' privation, and is this to be an annual visitation, like that of the nasty worms on our street and park trees.

MANY HOUSEKEEPERS.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

ARREST OF SUNDAY LIQUOR DEALERS.—The following named persons were arrested on Sunday, upon the charge of selling liquors on that day, in violation of law: John Shiel, No. 159 Seventh-avenue; John Battles, No. 44 Amity-street; Loutz Brannigan, No. 521 Sixth-avenue; Michael Regan, No. 1,385 Broadway; Frank A. Gould, No. 754 Broadway; Joseph Wills, No. 81 Fourth-avenue; Henry Murbeck, No. 4 Lawrence-street; and James Corcoran, No. 177 East Thirty-second-street. The above were all taken before Justice QUACKENBUSH, and held to bail in the sum of $100 each, to appear before the Grand Jury. In addition to these, twelve violators of the Sunday law were taken to the Tombs Police Court, and dealt with in a similar manner. At the Essex Market Court there were about a dozen parties committed for the same offence. The Police have very explicit instructions to deal with all parties who are caught in the act of violating the Sunday law.

A VALUABLE AID TO HOUSEKEEPING.—We depart from our usual custom to commend to public notice and favor a valuable contribution to the comfort of housekeeping. We refer to the universal Clothes Wringer, which is an important addition to the washtub, not only as a labor and time saver, but the wear and tear of clothing is greatly reduced, as the water is pressed out of the pieces instead of being twisted out. The articles are made to pass between two gutta-percha cylinders, and by the means of a crank, they are squeezed to the necessary dryness. A screw regulates the amount of pressure. It is one of the very few novelties of the kind that are practical and useful.

CHANGES AMONG POLICE CAPTAINS.—The following changes were made by the Board of Police Commissioners, yesterday, to take effect on the 19th inst. Capt. BOGERT, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct, transferred to the Thirty-first. Capt. DE CAMP, of the Twenty-third, to the Twenty-Seventh. Capt. HUTCHINGS, of the Second, to the Twenty-third. Capt. SQUIRES, of the Eleventh, to the Second. Capt. PORTER, of the Twelfth, to the Nineteenth. Capt. BRYAN, of the Nineteenth, to the Eleventh. Sergt. JOHN MURPHY, of the Nineteenth, to the Captaincy of the Twelfth. Patrolman A. R. VAUGHAN, of the Seventh, promoted to be Sergeant of the Seventh; and AUGUSTUS MILLER, of the Eleventh, to be Sergeant of the First.

BARNUM'S BABY SHOW REOPENED.—As will be seen by the advertisement, BARNUM was obliged to "do it again." The people insisted upon thronging his gates, and why not let them in? The babies were all on exhibition, as was Commodore NUTT, who has been spending a week with his rural friends in fishing and shooting. Mrs. PRIOR and Miss JENNIE WALTERS, one of the most attractive of the Broadway actresses, fascinated the good people who filled the Lecture-room; and the babies, who by this time are accustomed to the hurly-burly of the crowd, slept peacefully at 11, cried hungrily at 1, and charmed the multitude with their good nature at 2 o'clock. The same will be done to-day, and every day this week.

A PRESENTATION.—Mr. JAMES GILLEN, "counter" in the press-room of the TIMES Office, has been presented with a finger-ring and diamond breastpin, worth $150, by the carriers, press hands and mail agents, as a testimonial of their appreciation of the courtesy and fidelity with which he has uniformly discharged his duties. As regards the workmanship of the ring and pin, it is enough to say that they were manufactured by Messrs. TIFFANY & Co., No. 550 Broadway.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.—In this Court, yesterday, before Recorder HOFFMAN, JULIA MCDONALD and ELIZA MCCARTY, women of the town, pleaded guilty to forgery in the fourth degree in passing a $5 counterfeit bill of the Bank of America upon ANTHONY DILLINGER, of No. 141 West Broadway, in exchange for a piece of corned beef. They were remanded for sentence. WILLIAM WILSON was tried for burglary, but the jury were unable to agree upon a verdict, and the prisoner was remanded for a new trial.

CHARGED WITH STEALING SWINE.—PATRICK MCCABE was arrested yesterday upon the complaint of JOHN GREEN, who charges that the accused was caught in the act of stealing six dead swine, valued at $60, from the sloop Atlantic, lying at the foot of West Thirty-seventh-street. The prisoner was committed in default of $1,000 bail.

ELECTION OF FIRE COMMISSIONER.—This election will be held to-night at Fireman's Hall. The prominent candidates, as heretofore noticed in the TIMES, are Messrs. TREMBLAY and PARKER. Much interest is felt by the members of the various companies in the result.

Which was laid over.

By Alderman Boole—

Whereas, The Legislature of the State of New-York during its late session passed an act to adapt the canals of the State to the defence of the north and northwestern lakes, provided the General Government assume the expense of the same; and

Whereas, A bill has been introduced into the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, authorizing the enlargement, at the expense of the General Government, for military purposes, of the locks on the Erie and Oswego canals to a capacity to admit the passage of gunboats through the same; and

Whereas, The exposed condition of our great extent of Lake Coast, and the vast importance of those inland seas to the trade and commerce of the Union, and especially to the City of New-York, requires that they should be thoroughly guarded and protected against any hostile demonstration so easily made through the rivers and canals now in possession of the neighboring nation; and

Whereas, The Government of Great Britain has shown, on more than one occasion of late, her hostility to the people and Government of the United States; therefore,

Resolved, That the Common Council of the City of New-York respectfully but urgently call upon Congress to pass the bill now before the House as one of first military importance and necessity, providing for the defence of the Nortern frontier, with such appropriations as may be deemed necessary for the widening of the locks of the Erie and Oswego Canals to a capacity sufficient to admit of the passage of gunboats of the size proposed through the same, thus securing a direct and rapid water communication for vessels-of-war from the bay of New-York to the Lakes, and through them to the Mississippi River, and full protection to the commerce of those inland seas and the magnificent cities of the West; therefore

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Common Council be directed to cause the above preamble and resolution to be properly engrossed, and forward the same to the Honorable the President of the Senate of the United States and the Honorable the Speaker of the House, with a request that the same be laid before the Congress now in session.

Alderman Dayton moved to amend by striking out all that portion of the preamble that speaks of the hostility of Great Britain.

Which was carried.

And the preamble and resolution, as amended, were adopted.

MOTIONS.

Alderman Boole moved a reconsideration of the vote taken on the preamble and complimentary resolutions in relation to the contemplated arrival of Archbishop Hughes in this City.

Which was carried on a division, viz.:

Affirmative—Aldermen Walsh, Hall, Reed, Chipp, Mitchell, Jeremiah, Frear, Boole, Allen, Ottiwell, Farley—11.

Negative—The President, Aldermen Dayton, Froment, Genet—4.

Whereupon Alderman Boole presented the following as a substitute:

By Alderman Boole—

Whereas, His Grace, John Hughes, Archbishop of the Diocese of New-York, at a period in the history of our country, when further progress in its onward march to greatness was declared arrested, its character for enlightenment, liberality, and all the other virtues possessed by the great people and Government of the Republic, were misrepresented and perverted, and the judgment of foreign nations biased against it by the malignant tongue of rebellion, speaking through its agents and emissaries accredited by the rebellious States at almost every Court in Christendom, did proceed to Europe, as is believed, in a semi-official capacity, and by his eloquent advocacy of the cause of civil and religious liberty, as guaranteed to all by the Constitution and laws of the United States, and his earnest, devoted and patriotic, yet intelligent, Government of the United States was contending against this most infamous, causeless and, at the same time, gigantic rebellion ever recorded in the history of the world, rendered that Government and the country an important, nay, almost invaluable service, particularly at the Courts of France and Rome; and it is but fitting and proper that, in view of such patriotic services and devotion to the country of his adoption, rendered by one so eminent for his piety, and regarded in a measure as being removed by his holy calling from all active participation in the temporal affairs of the world, should be recognized and acknowledged by the authorities of this City of his residence, and the scene of his spiritual ministrations for more than a quarter of a century, and to which, after a limited absence, he is now about to return;

Be it, therefore,

Resolved, That the Board of Aldermen of the City of New-York, in view of the distinguished and patriotic services rendered by his Grace, Archbishop Hughes, on behalf of the General Government, while on a visit to Europe, particularly at the Courts of France and Rome, do hereby tender him their thanks, and through the members of the Board, the thanks of their constituents, the inhabitants of the City of New-York.

Alderman Genet moved to amend by striking out the words "Board of Aldermen," and inserting Common Council; also by striking out the words "members of the Board," and inserting "them."

Which was lost on a division, viz.:

Affirmative—Aldermen Dayton, Jeremiah, Froment and Genet—4.

Negative—Aldermen Smith, Walsh, the President, Hall, Reed, Chipp, Mitchell, Frear, Boole, Allen, Ottiwell and Farley—12.

Alderman Boole moved to substitute the foregoing in lieu of the original.

And on his motion called the previous question.

Negative—Aldermen Dayton, Genet—2

The question then being "Shall the main question be now put?"

It was carried.

And the main question—embracing the preamble and resolution submitted by Alderman Boole—was then adopted, on a division, by the following vote:

BROOKLYN NEWS.

Brooklyn Common Council Proceedings.

THREE VETOES—DECISIONS IN FAVOR OF THE CITY—AN ARMORY FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT—BOARD OF HEALTH—THE WATER WORKS.

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held last evening, Alderman VAN BRUNT in the chair. A communication was received from the Mayor, returning without his approval the resolution adopted on the 26th ult., declaring the contract made with HENRY W. PARSONS, for repairing the lamps in the Western District, null and void, and directing the Board of Contracts to advertise for proposals for repairing the same until the 1st of June, 1863. The Mayor thinks to release a contractor simply because he secured an unremunerated job, would be setting a bad precedent. Also a resolution, adopted at the same meeting appointing a Committee of five to proceed to Albany to collect money from the State to refund the city for advances made, amounting to $75,000, to equip volunteers at the commencement of the war, and to distribute the same, when collected, to the wives, &c., of the volunteers in the field. The Mayor makes no objection to the object for which it is sought to appropriate the money, but he thinks that sending a Committee to proceed to Albany, would involve an unnecessary expense, and that it is a duty properly pertaining to the Comptroller, who, when the money has been appropriated by the State, can obtain the same at the expense of a few postage-stamps; also the resolution deciding that the streets of the city shall be repaired by contract, and that proposals for each Ward be advertised for separately. such a method, in the opinion of the Mayor, would be impracticable, while to advertise for each district of the city separately would be perfectly practicable. The communication was laid on the table and ordered printed. The Corporation Counsellor communicated the following recent decisions at a General Term of the Supreme Court, affecting the interests of the city: The case of the People ex rel. Thomas Hunt against the city, involving the regularity of the assessment for the Hamilton-avenue bridge, decided favorably to the city and the assessment affirmed. A warrant for the collection of the assessment should therefore be ordered to issue; the case of Curtis against the city, involving the regularity of a tax sale and the liability of the city to refund money received from the purchaser at such sale, has been decided favorably to the city, and the judgment below reversed. The case of SPOONER against the City, involving the right of the Common Council to discharge the Evening Star as one of the Corporation newspapers, has been decided favorably to the city, and the judgment of the City Court reversed. The suit of GERALD's executors against the city, to recover a balance of award for lands taken in the opening of Van Ruren-street, upon the ground of negligence on the part of the city in collecting the assessment, has also been decided favorably to the city, and the non-suit obtained in the trial in the City Court has been sustained on appeal. That portion of the Counsellor's communication referring to Gowanus Bridge was referred to the Assessment Committee and the balance to the Law Committee. The Special Committee, composed of the Eastern District Aldermen, to whom was referred the subject of an Armory for the Eastern District, reported in favor of purchasing the building at the corner of Fifth and South Fourth streets, known as the Odean. The report was adopted. A resolution was adopted declaring the Health Committee, with the Mayor, a Board of Health, and requesting that their services be at once resumed for the season.

The Special Committee to whom was referred the accounts of the Permanent Water Board, reported the same correct. The Committee also report that the deficiency of revenue is yearly increasing, viz: In 1859 the amount was about $60,000, in 1860 the amount was about $90,000, in 1861 the amount was about $144,522 82.

A number of reports were presented and a large amount of local business of no general interest was transacted, when the Board adjourned for one week.

DROWNED.—JAMES BROPHY, a laborer, was accidentally drowded, yesterday, in the Atlantic Basin. He was a single man, 25 years old. An effort was made to save him, but he was drawn under vessels in the vicinity of the current before he could be reached.

CIRCUIT COURT CALENDAR FOR THIS DAY.—Nos. 63, 64, 67, 70, 72, 74, 78, 84, 86, 89, 94, 95, 98, 99, 105, 107, 108, 110, 111, 112. Reserved Causes—Nos. 2, 13, 36

NEW-JERSEY.

THE MYSTERY REVEALED.—From the description given of the woman who drowned herself and child, by jumping overboard from the Jersey City ferry-boat Colden, on Wednesday last, there is no doubt but she was a Welch woman, named JANE MORGAN, living in Williamsburgh, who had been on a visit to some friends living in Bright-street, Jersey City, where she remained three days. She started, as they supposed, to return home. Her husband deserted her a short time since and went West, which—making her disconsolate, she being in destitute circumstances—no doubt led her to commit the act of self-destruction, at the same time destroying her babe. The child was about nineteen months old.

A SAD CASE.—Mr. WM. J. HARLAN, a highly respectable and estimable citizen of Jersey City, became deranged, while on the cars returning with his family from Philapelphia, on Saturday night, and became so violent during Sunday that it was found necessary to remove him to an Asylum. It was intended to have placed him in the Asylum at Trenton, but refusing to leave the cars at that place, his friends were obliged to go on with him to the Asylum in Philadelphia. Mr. HARLAN has been subject to the attacks in former years, and has once before been an inmate of the Asylum where he is now confined.

United States District Court.

Before Judge Betts.

MOTION TO STRIKE FROM THE RECORD A LIBELLANT.

Samuel W. Thompson et al. vs. The Brig Jachin.—This was a motion to strike out the name of a party libelant. The action was brought to enforce a bottomry bond. The papers on the motion showed that the interest in the bond was really vested in other parties than the nominal obligee, who was only their agent.

Held by the Court—That in Admiralty an agent is recognized as a competent party to sue in his own name in behalf of others in whom the actual interest exists.

That to avoid the rigor of the common law rule, and also generally of its own course of practice, which interdicts a party to the record from being heard as a witness, the familiar practice of the Admiralty, as well as of Chancery, is to discharge a party from the record, in order to reintegrate his competency as a witness, when no further interest than such technical one exists with him, and also to relieve him of his obligation of suretyship to the Court for costs, on other surety being substituted.

That there is, therefore, no foundation for the objections interposed on behalf of the respondent, as he does not allege that he will be deprived of any matter of defence by the means.

Motion granted, but inasmuch as it does not rest on any equity accruing since the suit was brought, it is granted on payment of costs of this hearing, and on condition that the defendant be allowed to add to the defence already interposed such other as may be appropriate to or required by the change of parties in the action.

PRACTICE—FRIVOLOUS DEMURRER.

The United States vs. The Elizabethport Ferry Company.—This was an action of debt, commenced Nov. 16, 1860, to recover penalties alleged to have accrued under the acts of Congress of 1838 and 1852 in relation to steamboats. The defendants filed a plea of the general issue and also a special plea in avoidance. The libelants move to expunge the special plea as frivolous in setting up in defence a point of law which has already been decided against the defendants.

Held by the Court—That the subject matter of the suit has been in litigation before the Court since 1859 in various forms of procedure. But the information herein is grounded on facts, en pais, and not on any legal adjudication, and accordingly, the renewed action would seem to lie open to every form of defence admissible by law to a monetary demand.

That if the proposed plea be really frivolous it should be met by demurrer as a more appropriate method of testing its quality than is supplied by a non-enumerated motion.

Motion denied.

MOTION TO BOND IN POSSESSORY ACTION.

Isabella Bernard vs. The bark Cora and Henry M. Beams.—This was a motion on the part of the respondent for leave to bond the vessel, the action being a possessory one. The libelant alleged that she was the owner of the vessel; that in 1861 the vessel was sold by a decree of this Court, and that Beams bought her at that sale as agent for Mary Jane Watson, who furnished him the funds for that purpose; that he took the bill of sale in his own name, with her consent, but with the understanding and agreement that he should at any time on request transfer it to her, and that the libelant bought the vessel from said Watson for valuable consideration.

The respondent made the present motion on his own affidavit, denying the allegations of the libel and stating that he bought the vessel at the Marshal's sale for himself, and paid the money for her and took the bill of sale of her, and has ever since had possession of her, and that he had chartered the vessel in good faith for a voyage to China, for which she was already half laden.

The libelant furnished four affidavits, all of which stated positively his own reiterated statements, that he bought the vessel as the agent of Mrs. Watson, and received the funds from her to purchase it, and had furnished written accounts to her by him since the sale, in which the purchase money for the vessel was charged to her, and a commission of $250 for himself for his services as her agent in transacting the business.

Held by the Court.—That without assuming to determine the verity of these clashing oaths, it is enough to say that the motion of the respondent cannot prevail in face of the direct contradiction of him by four witnesses, and his own accounts.

Motion denied.

For libelant, Messrs. Beebe, Dean and Donohue; for respondent, Messrs. Owen, Gray and Owen.

An Injunction Granted and an Assignment Disposed of.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Justice Robertson.

Edward N. Bond vs. Salisbury & Arrowsmith et als.—The defendants (Salisbury & Arrowsmith) on the 4th of March, 1861, sold and transferred to James P. Salisbury all their stock in trade, bills receivable and other property, valued at $52,000. The sale was upon a credit of eighteen months and two years, and the debt in part secured by a chattel mortgage upon the stock, worth about $20,000.

The plaintiff is a judgment creditor of Salisbury & Arrowsmith, having claims amounting to about $5,000, and brings his action to set aside the above-mentioned sale, on the ground, as alleged, that it is void, plaintiff claiming that it was made with intent to hinder, delay and defraud creditors. The Court, on motion of the plaintiff for an injunction and Receiver, granted the motion, appointing a Receiver and referring it to Murray Hoffman, Esq., to take the necessary security.

Crary, Elmore & Sweet, for the plaintiff; Andrews, Colby & Thompson, and C. F. Donnelly, for defendants.

Decisions in Cases Reported.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Ingraham, Leonard and Clerke.

SHEPHERD'S CASE DECIDED.

The People vs. James Shepherd.—The Court decided that the law of 1861, changing the punishment for arson in the first degree, was not ex post facto so far as regarded this case, and the sentence, imprisonment for life, was affirmed.

THE RESERVOIR GATE-HOUSE CONTRACT.

The People, &c., vs. Robert T. Haws, &c.—The relators claimed to have been the lowest bidders for the gate-house, but the Common Council refused them the contract. Plaintiffs brought suit, which was referred to arbitrators, who found for plaintiffs $61,821. The Comptroller refused to pay the amount, and a motion for a mandamus to compel him to pay the same was denied. Plaintiffs appealed to this Court. Judgment affirmed.

Including the Clearing-house operations of the week, which show the inter-exchanges between the Banks, and including also the Sub-Treasury average of the week, the following is the general comparison with the previous exhibit, and also with the movement this time last season:

The Bank return this afternoon shows no important change from the previous statement. The movement is remarkably steady. The market for Money to-day is again cheap in rates and easy in supply. The quotation of 4@5½ ℔ cent. embraces nearly all transactions on first-class securities, from Loans on demand to Discounts at 60 days to 6 months. The Gold market has a further advance to 104¼@104⅜ ℔ cent., and upon this Exchange on London went up to 115¼ ℔ cent. The following are the reported rates on the Continent:

Paris—60 days' sight ℔ dollar..................4f. 90c.
Paris—3 days' sight ℔ dollar..................4f. 87½c.
Amsterdam—60 days' sight ℔ guilder........ 43¼c.
Hamburg—60 days' sight ℔ marc banco...... 38½c.
Frankfort—60 days' sight ℔ florin .... 43½c.
Bremen—60 days' sight ℔ rix dollar.......... 83c.

There is increased activity on the Stock Exchange to-day at advancing prices, and the market appears to go up on nearly all departments of the official list without special support from any quarter. Beginning with United States 6 ℔ cents of 1881, which rose to 106½@106⅝ ℔ cent., the list was stronger than on Saturday by ½@1 ℔ cent. upon Tennessee and Missouri 6 ℔ cents., Pacific Mail, New-York Central and the Western Shares. The Railway Mortgages were also firmer and higher, and the business at both sessions of the Board was unusually active. After the adjournment of the Second Board there was a further rise on the Railway Shares in some instances of ⅛@⅜ ℔ cent. The demand was especially strong for New-York Central, which sold up to 93 ℔ cent., for Illinois Central at 65⅛@65¼, and for Toledo at 46⅛@46½ ℔ cent. Late in the afternoon the following were the last prices compared with Saturday:

	Sat.	Mon.		Sat.	Mon.
N. Y. Central	91⅝	92⅞	Mich. Guarant'd.	58	58¾
Erie	38¼	38⅜	Illinois Central.	63⅞	65⅛

The Evening Post has the following explanation of the rumors current on Friday and Saturday in reference to private negotiations at the Treasury Department at Washington:

"All private negotiations with the Treasury Department at Washington, about which rumors have been rife since Friday last, were brought to an end on Saturday afternoon, as soon as the Secretary was made aware of the feeling here on the subject. Meanwhile he had committed himself to Mr. MORRIS KETCHUM, of this City, and a few other parties acting with him, to the extent of their holdings or purchases of United States notes, Custom-house issue, for the exchange of these notes for 7.30 ℔ cent. Treasury bonds at a difference of three per cent. The whole amount is believed not to exceed two millions, and with this, the matter ends, such is our information to-day, from a quarter not likely to be far out of the way."

Presuming the above to be the true state of the case, we have to remark that, at least, two important points will be gained by the Government, if not by the public, in the result of this private negotiation. In the first place, the lesson to Secretary CHASE will prove a valuable one, to avoid all partial or confidential sales or exchanges of Treasury paper hereafter; and, in the second place, it will, or should, end, for all time, the personal influence of Mr. MORRIS KETCHUM, never in our estimation a disinterested influence, at the Treasury Department. That he profits in a pecuniary sense, to the amount of $15,000 or $20,000 by this latest specimen of sharp practice upon the Government, ought, by no means, to diminish the value of the discovery to the Secretary—who seems up to the present time to have greatly overrated his influence in Wall-st.—that he is nothing more than a very sharp Money broker after all.

The Treasury Finances.

From Thompson's Reporter, June 9.

An official statement from the Treasury Department shows the Federal debt, on the 29th of May, to be $491,448,984. In this statement it appears by the Department books that one hundred and forty-six millions of Demand Notes are already out. A fair deduction might with propriety have been made for "notes on hand," in the vaults of Sub-Treasurers, &c.—say twenty millions.

The next most gratifying item in this statement is that $2,700,000 of the 5.20-year sixes had been taken by the people.

The question is discussed whether another issue of Demand Notes will be required. We answer in the negative; unless it shall be some twenty to twenty-five millions of ones, twos and threes, for army accommodation.

With the privilege to fund the currency into a Federal 6 ℔ cent. Stock, the people will never carry one hundred millions of Government Currency. But, says the new convert to a Treasury Note Currency, by your own showing above, the Government has now one hundred and twenty-six millions in circulation. Bear in mind that sixty millions of it is the old issue, receivable for duties, and by the premium it bears has ceased being currency, and has become an investment in the hands of the holders.

Take this premium issue out of the hands of the holders, and it makes an opening for an equal amount of securities, but not of currency. From the day the law was passed making only the old issue receivable for duties, people began to assort and lay by that class of currency, under the very correct idea that it would be premium money. Of course it ceased to be currency.

It might be well for Mr. Secretary CHASE to take off the market some ten millions of these Custom-house Demand Notes. By so doing he would be in receipt of a portion of the duties in gold, in time for the October and January interest on the public debt.

It is only a matter of judgment whether to exchange 7.30s or 6s of 1881 for Custom-house Notes now, and save some 2½ ℔ cent. premium, or to buy gold in the Fall, at whatever premium the speculators may ask.

With the holders of Custom-house Notes it is only a matter of time when their investment in that line shall bear a premium equal to gold. A negotiation of only fifteen or twenty millions would put them on a gold valuation instantly. In the natural course of absorption they will, in the course of thirty days, range but ⅛@1 ℔ cent. below gold, and there they will hang for several months. In any event, those who lay aside paper money for future use, would do well to put it in the currency that is "receivable for all public dues." It will at least earn some interest by appreciating in value, as compared with the legal tender currency; and if gold rises to a high premium, the old Demand Notes will rise to the same standard.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

There is nothing of special importance from before Richmond this morning, if we except the report from the City brought to our lines by a contraband, that no rebel reinforcements had been received, and that there were no signs of an intended evacuation.

The Richmond Dispatch, of June 4, says that the battle of Saturday and Sunday was a bloody affair, and sets down the rebel loss at 8,000, and the National loss at from 12,000 to 20,000, including many prominent officers. The rebels lost a vast number of officers, including 5 Generals, 23 Colonels, 10 Majors, and 57 Captains, killed or taken prisoners. The Dispatch complains that the Nationals can at any time cut off the retreat of the Confederates South by seizing the railroads at Petersburgh, and intimates that a retreat to Lynchburgh and the mountains was the only one left to them. The bare statement of the fall of Corinth has been published in Richmond, and by this time, throughout the South.

A dispatch from Gen. Fremont to the War Department, dated Harrisonburgh, the 7th inst., indicates that he is pressing Jackson hard, and is likely to overtake him. Two skirmishes took place on Friday, one of cavalry and the other of infantry, brought on by ambushes of the enemy, who were finally driven from their positions, but not without considerable loss on our side. A list of the casualties will be found in our dispatches. It was thought that Jackson intended to make a stand at Port Republic, about twelve miles beyond Harrisonburgh.

We have reports, this morning, from the rebels, that our forces are threatening Charleston in earnest. Dispatches from that city, dated the 4th inst., state that a force of our troops, numbering about two thousand—probably two regiments—had been landed at James Island, opposite the city, and that an engagement had taken place with the rebel force under Gen. Gist, in which our troops had been repulsed, with a loss of twenty men taken prisoners. A dispatch from Gen. Gist himself is published, in which he announces that our troops have been landed on Battery and John Islands, and were then before him in force, under cover of the gunboats. He closes his dispatch with the statement that "an advance is imminent." It is probable, however, that our troops only intended to gain a foothold near the city front—where future operations can be conducted—in which they were no doubt perfectly successful, as the dispatch from Commodore Dupont, mentioned yesterday, states that the rebel batteries at Stono had been reduced. In connection with this movement against Charleston, another movement may be mentioned as having particular significance. On the night of the 28th ult. an expedition proceeded from Beaufort to Pocotaligo, at which point the railroad between Savannah and Charleston was destroyed, after a thousand rebels who were guarding it had been driven off. Our forces remained in possession of the road two days, and then returned to Beaufort with a loss of only two killed and five wounded. This cuts off the possibility of succor for Charleston from Savannah, excepting by a roundabout way.

We learn from a dispatch from Louisville that our forces now occupy Baldwin, Guntown, Jackson and Bolivar, in Western Tennessee. Beauregard's army is reported to have passed Guntown on the night of the 8th inst., retreating southward from Baldwin. It is asserted that at least 20,000 rebel desertions have taken place since Corinth was evacuated, principally from Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas regiments; and it is believed that Beauregard cannot enter Columbus—for which point he seems to be aiming—with one-half the troops he took away from Corinth.

We have advices from Memphis to the 7th inst., at which time the excitement consequent upon the occupation of the city by our forces had almost entirely subsided. Another rebel steamer had been captured by our flotilla.

The Vicksburgh Citizen of the 8th inst., says "Circumstances needless to mention, brought to our wharf yesterday a lot of stock, furniture, provisions and contrabands. When the latter were asked where they came from, they replied with an air of self-importance: 'I belongs to Jeff. Davis.' As the Federal gunboats will pass close by Jeff. Davis' farm, it is expected that they will not show much mercy to anything found in that neighborhood. We are happy to state that Uncle Jeff.'s household goods are all in a safe place."

The following items, furnished to the St. Louis papers on Friday last from headquarters in that city, give an insight into the operations of Gen. Curtis: "The scouting expeditions from Gen. Curtis' army have met with brilliant successes. Gens. Carr and Osterhaus, with detachments in front of Little Red River, and Gen. Steele on the left and rear. Lieut.-Col. F. W. Lewis, of the First Missouri, fell in with a party west of Searcy, charged on them, killing four, wounding about twenty, and scattering the rest. Near West Point a party was routed by Major Hawkins, of the Sixth Missouri, a rebel Lieutenant taken prisoner. Lieut.-Col. Sickles, of the Ninth Illinois Cavalry, attacked a party at Cache River, killing four, wounding four, taking two prisoners and driving the rest into the swamps. Major Bowen, commanding a detachment of his own battalion and the Third Iowa Cavalry, at 9 P. M., on the 9th of May, fell upon a rebel camp at Kickapoo Bottom, west of Batesville about fifty-five miles, killing three and scattering the rebels in every direction, capturing a large amount of camp and garrison equipage, twenty-two prisoners, twenty-five horses, fifty-four guns, thirty or forty bowie-knives and thirty revolvers. This was a most daring attack, the men leaving their horses and charging the swamps with their carbines. Our troops can take the rebels on their own ground of guerrilla warfare, and show superior arms and braver conduct."

The United States steamer Guide, E. Vail, commanding, from Newbern, N. C., with 450 released prisoners, from Salisbury, N. C., arrived yesterday morning. On the 7th inst., ten miles north of Hatteras, passed steamer Eastern State, with 150 released Union prisoners; also the steamer Albany, both bound to New-York. We receive by the Guide a letter from our special correspondent with Gen. Burnside's army, which announces that Gov. Stanly will probably soon go to Raleigh, the capital of North Carolina, to confer with the State Convention now in session there.

A bulletin from the War Department, which we publish this morning, gives the necessary orders for the establishment of a camp of instruction for fifty thousand volunteers at Annapolis, Md., to be under the command and direction of Gen. Wool.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, a resolution was introduced by Mr. Sumner and laid over, directing the Post-Office Committee to inquire into the expediency of providing for an air-line railroad between Washington and New-York. A bill to provide for an increase of medical officers in the volunteer service was introduced. The joint resolution relating to the imprisonment of soldiers in the Penitentiary of the District of Columbia was passed. The Senate, at 1 o'clock, resolved itself into a High Court of Impeachment, for the trial of Judge Humphreys, of Tennessee, for treason, and the members of the House of Representatives were introduced in due form; but it was finally concluded to postpone the trial until the 26th inst., notice in the meantime being published in the papers of Washington and Nashville. The bill from the House to prohibit Slavery in the Territories, was passed, 28 to 10. The Pacific Railroad bill was ordered to be printed, with the amendments. The bill prescribing an additional oath for grand and petit jurors was passed. The Senate then went into Executive session, and on the opening of the doors adjourned.

In the House, the Constitution of Utah, with a memorial asking for admission into the Union, was presented by Mr. Bernhisel, and referred to the Committee on Territories. The Tax bill, with the Senate amendments, was ordered to be printed. A resolution was adopted calling upon the Secretary of War for information relative to Gen. Hunter's regiment of blacks, etc. Mr. Vallandigham, of Ohio, offered a resolution of thanks to Gen. Halleck and his officers and soldiers, for compelling the evacuation of Corinth, coupled with a declaration that the House "would rejoice to see the Constitution as it is, and the Union as it was, maintained and restored everywhere, without any further effusion of fraternal blood." He demanded the previous question, but the demand was not sustained by the House, and the matter went over for debate. A resolution was adopted calling upon the President, if not incompatible with the public interests, to submit information in his possession concerning our foreign relations. A resolution was adopted giving it as the judgment of the House, that officers commanding districts in the rebel States should be instructed to issue a proclamation that the army of the Republic will be subsisted, as far as practicable, upon the property of the rebels, and those who give aid and comfort to them. A bill to repeal the Fugitive Slave law was referred to the Judiciary Committee. A resolution to instruct the Committee to report a bill for the repeal of the law was laid on the table—68 to 51. A resolution, however, was passed, instructing the Committee to report a bill modifying the law—77 to 43. The House soon afterward adjourned.

GENERAL NEWS.

Mr. Vincent Colyer will speak to-night at the Cooper Institute, on the subject of the colored schools at Newbern, N. C. Mr. Colyer spoke on Sunday night to a large audience at Dr. Tyng's Chapel, and it is in consequence of the great desire manifested by our citizens to hear and know about this matter, that the meeting of to-night is appointed. We print in another column a report of his Sunday night's address.

The Board of Aldermen, yesterday, reconsidered the resolutions of the previous meeting, tendering a public reception to Archbishop Hughes, on his arrival from Europe, and passed a substitute tendering the thanks of the Board for his distinguished services in behalf of the Government while abroad. The Councilmen also held a meeting, but did little business of importance.

A meeting of Pennsylvanians was held at the Astor House yesterday afternoon for the purpose of providing some organization to look after the comforts of sick and wounded Pennsylvania Volunteers arriving in this City. Mr. S. B. H. Vance presided, and the following gentlemen were appointed a Committee on Permanent Organization, viz.: Stephen P. Russell, Saml. Milligan, Jr., Anderw J. Hetrick, Jerome Buck, C. W. Burton, Robt. Lowry, W. J. Bunce, Levi Rawling, E. S. Lockwood, A. F. Chur, S. B. H. Vance, M. G. Hart, L. Harwood, S. Newell. The Committee meets with Gov. Curtin at the Brevoort House, this afternoon, at 3 o'clock, and a meeting of Pennsylvanians will be held at the Astor House, at 8 o'clock P. M., to hear the report of the Committee.

Seventy-four bales of cotton were sold in St. Louis on Friday last, by order of Maj.-Gen. Halleck, on Government account. The average price paid was 27½ cents per pound.

On Saturday last, the sword voted to Commodore Wilkes by the Common Council of Boston, was presented to him in Philadelphia. Mayor Wightman made the presentation address, and Capt. Wilkes responded appropriately.

Sixteen hundred National prisoners, captured at the battle of Shiloh, arrived at Nashville on Thursday last, by way of Columbia. They have been confined in Macon, Tuscaloosa and Montgomery, and state that their fare has been corn bread made of cobs and grain ground together, and tainted beef. They were released because the rebels could not afford to supply them with this any longer.

The United States transport Kennebec, Capt. Joseph Gordon, arrived at Fort Delaware, below Philadelphia, on Sunday morning, about 7 o'clock, and discharged at the fort a cargo of 222 rebel prisoners, taken in the engagement of June 1 and 2, at Fair Oaks, before Richmond. Among the number are fifteen officers, including Col. C. E. Lightfoot, of the Twenty-second North Carolina Regiment, and Lieut.-Col. J. C. Long, of the same regiment. The remainder of the officers are as follows: Major W. A. Herbert, Eighth Alabama; Major Greyvill, Twenty-eighth Georgia; Capt. Thos. S. Mays, of Gen. Whiting's Staff, South Carolina; First Lieut. Barrington, Eighth Alabama; First Lieut. J. Y. McIntire, Sixteenth North Carolina; Lieut. Dendon, Forty-first Virginia; Third Lieut. A. L. Finley, Twenty-second North Carolina; First Lieut. M. J. M. Preston, Fourteenth Georgia; Second Lieut. J. R. F. Miller, Forty-ninth Georgia; Second Lieut. C. D. Boyd, Nelson's Light Artillery, Va.; Second Lieut. W. O. Clegg, Fourteenth Georgia; First Lieut. Wm. N. Housley, Forty-ninth Virginia. These prisoners were brought under charge of Capt. John Kavanagh, Lieut. Mekhan, Lieut. Gormly, and a squad of forty men, all belonging to the Sixty-third Regiment New-York Volunteers. Capt. Lyons, of the Sixth Cavalry, also accompanied the prisoners.

The National Grays, Eighth N. Y. S. M., have arrived at Fortress Monroe, and at present occupy Camp Hamilton.

The United States bark Brazileira left Philadelphia for Port Royal on Saturday. She carries six guns.

There was a buoyant market for Stocks yesterday at an advance of ½@1 ℔ cent. on Saturday's sales. Gold was also higher, closing 104⅜, and Exchange advanced to 115½ ℔ cent.

Breadstuffs were in brisk demand, yesterday, and the principal kinds were decidedly dearer. Provisions attracted rather more attention, especially Pork, in part for future delivery. Cotton was quiet, pending the auction sale. Rio Coffee and Cuba Sugars were in fair request, as were also Whisky, Hay, Hops and Tallow. The freight market was moderately active. Other branches of trade exhibited no new feature.

A Query.—Why is the Herald so anxious to induce the rebel leaders, civil and military, to fly into Mexico? For months it has kept up the cry, with most suspicious iteration; and the nearer we come to cutting off all the avenues of flight in that direction, the more loudly does it call on them to make their way into Mexico, while means of escape is yet left. The Herald, no doubt, thinks this is all in the legitimate line of backing its friends; but does it really suppose that the motive of the advice is not also pretty plain? Loyal men have no desire that Davis, Floyd, Beauregard, Cobb, and the rest of the traitor crew, shall escape into Mexico. We have quite another disposal to make of them much nearer home.

The New Features of the Campaign.

Ten days ago the rebels had two first-class armies in the field—one at Richmond, the other at Corinth. The work assigned to each was of about equal importance to the existence of the so-called Southern Confederacy. One was to hold and defend the rebel Capital, and check the march of Gen. McClellan through Virginia; the other was to hold the Mississippi Valley and the Mississippi River, and bar the progress of Gen. Halleck into the Cotton States of the Gulf. To defeat or disperse either of these armies was to change entirely the aspect of the campaign. If the army of the Southwest was defeated, the area of the Confederacy would be reduced to about one-fifth of its original size, and the number of States which the rebels controlled, even partially, would be reduced to four or five. If the army of Virginia was defeated, the whole of that State, inclusive of the rebel Capital, would fall into our hands; and if the military leaders chose to continue the war any longer, it would be seen by the world and by themselves to be a hopeless struggle for an impossible object.

Within those ten days the rebels have tried the issue of arms with us in the East, and without success; while in the West, within the same period, they have retreated from their stronghold, given up the Mississippi Valley and River, and uncovered the Gulf States to our troops; and the only question now of interest there is, as to what point in the Seaboard Slave States Beauregard's army is likely to make for. In the East, the rebels have sallied forth to try the mettle of our army, and have been driven from their ground and back into their Capital; in the Southwest, they decamp without giving our army a chance to show its own mettle or to test theirs. In the East the rebels seem preparing to make another great and final stand for their Capital and cause. In the West, or rather in the far South, the war is likely now to be changed into a series of desultory and spasmodic fights with fragments of the disjointed rebel army. It is doubtful if even this be seriously attempted; for, though we do not know precisely where the late army of Corinth is, we know that it must be in a region where it cannot obtain supplies, where it is easily outflanked, and where, from the nature of the soil and climate, and from the topography of the country, continued military operations, on anything like a respectable scale, are impossible. It is not at all unlikely that what there is left of the Southwestern rebel army may ultimately work its way into the Northern and mountainous regions of Georgia, and South and North Carolina, and there, for some time, keep up a show of resistance to the National arms. But that is an event dependent upon so many contingencies which a day may alter, that it is not worth while to speculate upon it. As related to great operations and movements, we may consider the army lately at Corinth as now out of the field.

It is upon Richmond, and upon Richmond alone, that the anxious gaze of the nation will henceforth be turned. The rebel army there, though repulsed from the Chickahominy ten days ago, still shows a bold front, is still of vast numbers, and is yet buoyed up with the hope of victory. The news from the Southern States for some time back has all gone to confirm the opinion that every available rebel regiment from every part has been sent to Richmond. There is even strong probability that Corinth was evacuated in order that the best and most effective part of that force might be transferred to Richmond, to aid in the struggle. Jeff. Davis, being now fully convinced, not only—as he confessed some time since—that he had undertaken to defend more territory than he could hold, but that he cannot hold any point of territory when our military tactics and gunboats are brought to bear upon it, seems to have adopted the policy of drawing all his scattered troops around the Capital, and there risking his kingdom and his neck upon one last desperate throw. One would think that even he must see that though our army should be repulsed at Richmond, it would not alter the aspect of the campaign in his favor. It would not give him any part of the seaboard or Gulf coasts which are in our hands; it would not give him New-Orleans; it would not give him the thousand miles of the Mississippi River which he has lately lost; it would not give him Tennessee or Arkansas, now occupied by our troops; nor would it give him Mississippi, Alabama or Florida, all under our control. It would not give him anything except a few days longer time in Richmond. In itself, too, such an event would be a reversal of all the precedents of the campaign, and is less likely of occurrence than that the Heavens should fall, and Jeff. Davis should catch the larks. The battle before, or at Richmond, must be a desperate one for the rebels and their cause; but what else can they do but try for it? Until the day comes that shall decide it, the eyes of the whole country will be fixed with intense and almost undivided interest upon that last and most hopeless field on which the rebellion has yet staked its fortunes.

The Shenandoah Campaign—Operations in Southwestern Virginia.—Fremont has now reached Harrisonburgh, the furthest point up the Shenandoah Valley that was reached by Gen. Banks; and Stonewall Jackson has retreated as steadily before him as he did before Banks, and a good deal more hastily. It seems utterly impossible to overtake that old rebel hypocrite and knave. He was within a few miles of Staunton last Saturday, and has probably reached that place by this time, and from there he most likely has taken the railroad to some point east of the Blue Ridge. Harrisonburgh, where our forces were last Saturday, is but twenty miles from Staunton. Fremont was getting minor and indecisive fights out of Jackson, and was expecting hourly that the latter would make a grand stand. Judging from his antecedents, however, it is unlikely that he will do anything of the sort.

But when all the Generals and troops pursuing the rebels up the Shenandoah Valley—Fremont, Banks, Sigel, and Shields—shall reach Staunton—what then? Turn around and march back again, for want of anything more to do? We hope not. There are two things that may be done. Leave a force at Staunton strong enough to hold it, and let the rest of our troops go and reinforce somebody in the field who needs troops. Or let the whole of the force in the Valley push through from Staunton to Charlottesville, seize the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad, capture Lynchburgh, and preoccupy that Southwestern section of Virginia, where, Jeff. Davis says, if driven from Richmond, he will carry on the campaign for twenty years. The thirty or forty thousand troops in pursuit of Jackson could easily, by a rapid move across the mountains, block any such game as this before Jeff. Davis begins it.

The Southern Confederacy Annihilated by the Loss of the Mississippi River.

If we were to concede all that the obstinate Secessionists assert, and all that their sympathizers of the British Press claim in their behalf, to wit: that "the South can never be subjugated," there are still certain conclusions reached in the progress of the Union arms, that destroy all hope of the "South" ever existing as an independent nation. One conclusion reached is, that the Mississippi River can never be closed against the free commerce of the Northwest. For a brief season it has been thus closed. A hostile local population for a while held that river from New-Orleans to the Belize, with a gunboat force of no contemptible number of bottoms and weight of metal. They held two of the best built forts on its banks that the abundant resources of the National Union constructed; and these defences were supported by an army more numerous and formidable than that with which Gen. Jackson, 50 years ago, annihilated an attempted invasion of the British, under Pakenham. From New-Orleans to Cairo, equally formidable preparations were made to control the navigation of the river. Every bluff was crowned with earthworks and columbiads, and islands became as floating batteries to command the approach from North to South. Vast armies garrisoned these positions, as at Columbus, Island No. 10, and Memphis. Looking at these facts from an English stand-point, and remembering the experience of the English in their essay upon the Mississippi River, it is, perhaps, not surprising that the English Government, and its allies here, regarded the dislodgment of such naval forces, batteries and armies, as impossible, especially when sustained by a unanimous local population, possessing resources, courage and will.

But the ligatures placed by the rebellion on that great stream have been sundered. They have dropped as burnt flax from the limbs of a giant, and the Union fleets and armies now command the Mississippi. The batteries built by the rebels are garrisoned by Union forces; the gunboats built by them have been sunk, burned or captured; and the armies gathered by the rebels have been dispersed, and have resolved into their individual elements. And now only Union ships of war, and gunboats that have mastered the stupendous defences of the Confederates, patrol the Mississippi, in its course of two thousand miles from St. Anthony to the sea. This great achievement of the Union has been gained by an extemporized flotilla of gunboats and mortarboats; many of them crude in design and imperfect in construction; many of them second-hand bottoms, ferryboats and freight-boats, built for peaceful purposes, razeed, and adapted to the dangerous work of war.

But this curious fleet of motley craft is soon to be superseded by gunboats of approved model and most substantial architecture, and after a few months—certainly before any nation in the world could make a respectable attempt to prevent it, the National Government will have a flotilla of iron-plated gunboats on the Mississippi River that no power can overcome or remove.

This, then, is one of the "fixed facts" of our national existence; the United States Government will hold and control the commerce of the Mississippi River. Is that stream the natural outlet of the seceded States of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee and Mississippi? Is its navigation essential to the existence and prosperity of the Confederate States? It has so been maintained by the Confederates themselves, and not one of all their leaders has ever spoken or written of an independent existence, of which the Mississippi River was not the grand aorta. How then is the Confederacy to survive the loss of this river? Where will the gunboats be built to expel the superior iron-clad fleet that will succeed the flotilla that has already destroyed the best naval defences that one year of undisturbed industry could provide? Where will the men and guns be obtained to reoccupy Columbus, Island No. 10, Fort Pillow and Fort Philip? Is any one so mad as to dream that a Power that could not hold the Mississippi River, with a navy at command, and all the strong places fortified and garrisoned, can regain its supremacy, with its fleet destroyed, and its strong positions held by a stronger Power?

Let us grant to the Secessionists in the South and in England, that the war is not near its conclusion, and that "the South can never be subjugated," and see what they have left to console them. With the Mississippi River forever in the control of the National Government, commerce, on the part of the Confederates, becomes impossible. And without commerce a nation is utterly unknown to the world, and must lead an existence unsatisfying in itself and unprofitable to mankind.

Nor will the maintenance of this crushing superiority on the part of the Union cost the fabulous annual sums that Secessionists imagine. The cost of the army has already been incurred—the contracts are out and the boats are building that will make the naval supremacy of the United States on the Mississippi invincible and perpetual. The annual expense of manning these boats and keeping them afloat at the desired positions on the Mississippi, is all that it will cost to keep the Southern Confederacy as impotent and unknown as the Cherokee Nation. Suppose that the United States makes no further war now in the West—but simply holds its control of the Mississippi—is there anything within reach of Confederate wisdom and power to break the deadly grasp thereby placed upon the vital parts of their attempted national organization?

We are not looking to the end of the war, in these speculations. We are supposing it to be indefinitely protracted, according to the Southern boast and the English desire. But in that view of the matter, we ask what sort of a Southern Confederacy will that be which has no part or lot in the navigation of the chief river of the South? And if existence without that river will be insupportable, how will the Union fleet be dislodged by any possible Southern prowess, or by a century of warfare?

Information Wanted.—It is still mysterious enough where the great bulk of Beauregard's army can have gone. We suppose it must be allowed that he had at least a hundred thousand men at Corinth. Now, suppose Gen. Pope captured ten thousand of these rebels; suppose ten thousand deserted and fled to their homes, or to the woods; suppose thirty thousand have gone to Richmond, (and, if any were sent there, the single circuitous line of railroad could hardly have carried more than that since the day Corinth was evacuated,) and there are still sixty thousand men of Beauregard's army unaccounted for. It is unlikely that the regiments of Gen. Price's command disbanded, or that the men deserted; for the bulk of his troops belonged in Missouri, and it would have been impossible for any number of them to have retraced their steps in that direction, without our immediately knowing it. The troops of Gen. Van Dorn were mostly from Arkansas, and they could not have crossed the river to get to their homes. Polk's troops were from Louisiana and Mississippi; and those from Louisiana, at least, could not have got into their State without first taking the oath of allegiance. Bragg's troops were from Alabama and Florida; Hardee's mostly from Georgia, with a few from South Carolina; and, unless those from the latter-mentioned States have been sent eastward toward Virginia, it is hardly conceivable that any very great part of Beauregard's army can have deserted. It is easy to talk about an army a hundred thousand strong breaking up, and the men flying in confusion everywhere; but rarely, if ever, in the military history of the world has an army broken up in such a way, and there is not a shadow of proof that the rebel army of the Southwest has done so. If such a host were disbanded in Mississippi at present the men would be fighting, if not feasting upon, each other before a week.

It does not seem that any part of the Corinth army went to Memphis, for our gunboats found no enemy there. There cannot possibly be any great number of men at any point between Corinth and Memphis, for there they would be subject to inevitable capture. We know that no part of the army went eastward on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad; for Gen. Mitchel has, within the last few days, operated along that line as far as Chattanooga. If the whole force has really moved southward over the two lines of railroad traversing the State of Mississippi, where is it now? Where are Gens. Price, Polk, Bragg and Hardee, and their heavy columns—not to speak of Beauregard? Are they somewhere in Mississippi, somewhere in Alabama, in Georgia, in South or North Carolina, or in Virginia? Or are they still not so far away from Corinth as might be imagined, and waiting for such time as Gen. Halleck's forces are divided that they may fall upon detachments of them and destroy them? Even if there are only fifty thousand of the original force left, they might do us vast damage yet.

A favorite theory is that a large part of the Southwestern army has been sent to Richmond; and we have no doubt that this is the case. But, as we said, it would have been impossible to have moved a hundred thousand men there yet; and if they are engaged in the act of moving there now, certainly Gen. Halleck ought to know it, and ought to convey, as fast as possible, the bulk of his army there too, where it may be of service.

We are all in the dark in regard to this whole matter. Each theory in the case seems to have greater difficulties than any other. If the enemy knows as little of the movements of our army as we know of the movements of his army, it must be considered a very queer affair all round.

Soldiers for the Future.—Jeff. Davis lately put forth a pretty little programme, according to which the war is to last for the next twenty years; and our Government, anxious to accommodate him, has begun seasoning some new material against that protracted spell. General Order No. 59, just issued by the War Department, directs that a camp of instruction for fifty thousand men—cavalry, artillery, and infantry, in due proportion—is to be immediately formed near Annapolis, Md., under command of Maj.-Gen. Wool. We presume this fifty thousand to be the new enlistment of that number of three years volunteers authorized by the War Department a month ago—an altogether different affair from the three months State militia lately summoned to the Capital. They will form a reserve corps d'armèe, whence reinforcements will be drawn to fill up voids made by battle or disease, and thus the regiments in the field be kept at a plenum. The corps could not possibly be under better organizing hands than those of the veteran General who has just assumed command of the Department.

Another of Time's Revenges.—Mr. Spence in the latest of his violently secesh editorial letters in the London Times brings out the following point of history:

> "The truth is that during the past Winter the Northern people, having no external hope, applied themselves to form an army with admirable energy and great success. The Southerners, on the other hand, were thoroughly convinced that the pressure of the blockade and its inefficiency, as reported by all the European consuls to their respective Governments, would enforce an intervention of the great Powers. This conviction lulled them into inaction, especially in the West, and the consequences were plain at the commencement of operations. The delusion passed away, the reality aroused them to action, and we see the result in the relative condition of the main armies."

There is some "truth" in this view of it; but there is also a moral in it which Mr. Spence would hardly care to have it point. It was the assurances of just such journals as the Times, and just such men as Mr. Spence, that inspired the rebels with these expectations of foreign intervention in their behalf. And it is an odd enough illustration of how a bad cause constantly trips itself up, that it was the very aid and encouragement which the rebels received from the London and Paris Press that, by "lulling them into inaction," made both their preparation less active, and their disappointment more terrible. It is some consolation this for the violent misrepresentation, perversity and abuse of those hostile journals—not joyous at the time, but grievous to the weak of nerve—some honey this in the dead carcass.

But must not the rebel leaders now be disposed to regard with a particularly amiable eye those dear friends of theirs, who, having long fed them on delusive hopes, are now, in their extremity, unable to lift a finger to help them?

A Notable Sign.—It appears that the foreign Consuls resident at Charleston have, since the appearance of our gunboats in that vicinity, all found it convenient to take their Summer vacation away from the city. As most of these gentlemen could never be accused of any want of sympathy with secession, it is fair to conclude that they did not leave Charleston until it became altogether too hot for them.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Establishment of a Camp of Instruction at Annapolis.

Reception of the Intelligence from Gen. Fremont's Command.

The Humphreys Impeachment Case in the Senate.

[OFFICIAL.]

WAR BULLETIN.

Washington, Monday, June 9.

A camp of instruction for fifty thousand men, cavalry, artillery and infantry, in due proportions, will be immediately formed near Annapolis, Md.

Major-Gen. Wool, United States Army, will command the camp, in addition to his duties as Department Commander.

The ground will be selected, and the troops, which will be assembled as rapidly as possible under orders from the War Department, will be placed in position as they arrive. Brig.-Gen. L. P. Graham is assigned to duty as Chief of Cavalry at the camp; and Brevet Brig.-Gen. Harvey Brown as Chief of Artillery, according to his brevet. A chief of the infantry arm will hereafter be designated. The Chief of Ordinance, the Quartermaster-General, the Commissary-General, Surgeon-General and Paymaster-General will each designate an experienced regular officer as the Chief of their regular departments at the camp. These officers will be subject to the orders of Gen. Wool, and under his supervision will, without delay, establish a hospital and dépôts of all the supplies necessary for the health and efficiency of the troops, at points where issues may be conveniently made.

The long experience of the veteran officer assigned to command the camp, will dictate the most efficient details for brigading, drilling, equipping and disciplining the reserves Corps d'Armée, to be thus formed under him. The Chiefs of the different staff of bureaux are hereby directed to aid him by promptly meeting his reasonable requisitions for the material of war

By order of the Secretary of War.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

Washington, Monday, June 9.

THE NEWS FROM GEN. FREMONT.

The dispatch from Fremont's department, detailing the skirmishing at Harrisburgh was made public this evening, and caused considerable excitement. Rumor had greatly exaggerated the number of killed and wounded. The impression is that Fremont will follow up the enemy with all dispatch, and stand a good chance of damaging him.

BEAUREGARD'S ARMY.

Facts accumulate to confirm the opinion, heretofore expressed in this correspondence, that a portion of Beauregard's army, recently at Corinth, is now at Richmond. In addition to the statements of the Southern papers, it is positively known here that a prominent officer very lately at Corinth, was wounded at the battle of Fair Oaks. It has for several days been believed nere that a portion, at least, of Jackson's force is en route for Richmond.

IRON-PLATING FOR WAR VESSELS

The Secretary of the Navy is preparing a letter to be transmitted to Congress, perhaps, to-morrow, stating that no adequate facilities exist for the manufacture of iron plates for ships and gunboats needed by the American navy. But two or three mills in the United States are prepared to do such work. The Secretary will recommend that Government take immediate measures to secure abundant manufactures of the best quality of plates. He will also recommend the establishment of a Navy-yard in the interior of the United States somewhere on the Mississippi River, for the construction of iron-clad vessels of war and gunboats. An iron-clad navy from such a point, while safe from heavy foreign fleets, could sweep down into the Gulf, guard the Southern coast, and clear any enemy from the waters of the West India Islands. A point on the Mississippi should be selected below which there is never less than fifteen feet of water.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE.

Mr. Vallandigham to-day offered a resolution thanking Gen. Halleck for his success at Corinth, and expressive of the hopes that the Constitution as it is and the Union as it was, shall be maintained without further bloodshed. The resolution was laid over under the rules. The resolution of Mr. Hutchins, rescinding the resolution authorizing an expenditure of $35,000 for one hundred copies of the annals of Congress, passed the House by a vote of sixty-six to forty-eight.

THE HEALTH OF THE WESTERN ARMY.

Dr. Barnes, Chief Surgeon of Halleck's Staff, arrived here to-night. He states that the health of the troops in the Western army is fully as good as could be expected, and that the Western army was at no time in better spirits.

REBEL COMMUNICATIONS ACROSS THE POTOMAC.

A detachment of the Second Pennsylvania Cavalry, while on a scouting expedition in the neighborhood of Leesburgh, captured, during the past few days, several boat loads of horse-feed, flour and the like, while on their passage across from the Maryland to the Virginia side. The officer in command of the detachment also reports that the rebels near and around Poolesville and Edward's Ferry are constantly ly signaling to secesh, reconnoitering on the opposite side.

THE HUMPHREYS' IMPEACHMENT.

The impeachment case of Judge HUMPHREYS, set down for to-day, was adjourned over to the 26th, thereby making it one of the last acts of the session, as an adjournment is expected at the close of the month, or, at furthest, during the first week of July.

GOING WEST.

Maj.-Gen. ORD leaves in the morning for the West, having been ordered to report to Gen. HALLECK.

UNPATRIOTIC.

It is stated that a member of the Seventh Regiment, in the employ of a Wall-street Banker, has been ordered home by his employer, who assured him that he could not afford to furnish the Government with men. What makes the act the more discreditable is, that the Banker has been the recipient of much Government patronage.

SLAVERY IN THE TERRITORIES.

The House bill prohibiting Slavery in the Territories was passed by the Senate to-day. Ayes, twenty-eight; nays, ten. To an inquiry made by Mr. CARLILE as to whether the bill would free the slaves of Indians in the Territories, Mr. WADE said it would not until such Territories were organized.

VALLANDIGHAM IN BAD ODOR.

In the House, to-day, Mr. GURLEY, of Ohio, presented a petition from six hundred and thirty-three loyal citizens of the City of Cincinnati, Ohio, requesting the "expulsion of Hon. C. L. VALLANDIGHAM from the House of Representatives on account of their believing him to be a traitor to his country and a disgrace to the State of Ohio."

ARRESTED.

ALBERT E. STRUMFELS, formerly a Major in BLENKER'S Division, was arrested yesterday by the Provost Guard, on a charge of appropriating a large quantity of Government property. Wagons laden with clothing and provisions had been seen to stop at STRUMFELS' house and unload, and several loads had been carried away. The Patrol, on receiving information, arrested the Major and all the inmates of his house. The property, worth about $3,000, was removed, and an examination held to-day, but the result is not conclusive as to the guilt of the accused.

MR. LOVEJOY AND EMANCIPATION.

Representative LOVEJOY will speak in New-York on the 12th inst., on the emancipation question.

MEDICAL INSPECTORS.

A bill passed by Congress in the early part of the session provides for the appointment of eight Medical Inspectors to follow the army, and see that ample provision is made for the sick and wounded. The members of Congress who recently visited the battle-ground in Virginia, finding the arrangements for the wounded so deficient, on their return waited upon the Secretary of War, and asked that these Inspectors be appointed. The names of eight distinguished physicians were sent to the Secretary by the Surgeon-General, and it is probable they will be appointed to-day.

Mr. BARCLAY, whose praiseworthy labors in the peninsula have been of so much value to the sick and wounded, arrived here yesterday morning for consultation with the Surgeon-General and Secretary STANTON.

HOSPITALS.

The Hygeia Hospital at Fortress Monroe is to be broken up, and the patients transferred to a more healthy and convenient place. An order will also be made to discontinue sending sick and wounded to Yorktown. There are now at that post nearly fifteen hundred, and the accommodations are very inferior and the water unhealthy.

The wounded in the hospitals of this City are especially well cared for. The inmates to-day were visited by a number of Congressmen, who made their visits more welcome by liberal contributions of money and extra comforts to those in need. Among the Representatives from New-York devoting much time to the sick, is Mr. WALL, of Brooklyn, who donates to those wounded in battle all the compensation he receives as a member of Congress.

CONFIRMATIONS BY THE SENATE.

The Senate, to-day, confirmed the following Presidential appointments:

Commander Amasa Paine to be a Captain, and Lieutenant Charles Hamilton a commander on the retired list, and Lieutenant William Reynolds a commander on the reserved list of the navy. These appointments are in accordance with the acts of 1857, for promoting the efficiency of that branch of the public service.

The Senate also confirmed Lieut. Francis Winslow as Commander, and the following as Chief Engineers in the Navy:

Wm. H. Cushman, Wm. H. Rutherford and John S. Abert.

Daniel W. Wainwright, of New-York, and Burkett Cloak, of Kentucky, both as Brigade Surgeons.

Col. Wm. W. Morris, of the Second Regiment of Artillery, Brigadier-General by brevet in the regular service, for meritorious conduct.

Capt. W. E. Prince, of the First Infantry, to be First Major of the Third Infantry.

The following were confirmed as Brigadier-Generals of Volunteers:

Col. Julius White, of Illinois.

Stephen G. Burbridge, of Kentucky.

Col. Adolph Von Steinwehr, of the Twenty-ninth New-York.

Capt. Charles Griffin, of the Fifth Regiment Artillery.

Col. Peter J. Osterhaus, Twelfth Missouri Volunteers.

Col. George W. Gordon, of Massachusetts.

Col. J. M. Tuttle, of the Second Iowa.

The following were confirmed as Consuls:

Wm. P. Jones, of Illinois, at Macao.

Thomas P. Smith, of Massachusetts, at Napoleon Vendee.

F. B. Elmer, of Missouri, at La Paz.

Bushrod Lott, of Pennsylvania, at Tehuantepec.

Daniel Bowen, of Pennsylvania, at San Blas.

Anson Francis, Jr., of Pennsylvania, at Brundi, in Borneo.

James Q. Howard, of Ohio, at St. John, N. B.

August Becker, of Pennsylvania, at Schwerin.

Benjamin S. Lyman, of New-York, Marshal of the Consular Court of the United States at Fow Chow, China.

John M. Brodhead, of the District of Columbia, one of the commission under the act of Emancipation, in place of Vinton, deceased.

John Cross, Surveyor of Customs at Marblehead, Mass.

Joseph H. Elmer, Collector of Customs at Bridgetown, N. J.

John Burnham, Postmaster at Woonsocket Falls, R. I.

THE PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 9.

Mr. SUMNER, of Massachusetts, (Rep.,) offered a memorial from the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church and Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, speaking of Slavery as the cause of the rebellion, and asking for the emancipation of the slaves.

Mr. SUMNER also offered a resolution that the Committee on Post Offices and Roads be directed to inquire into the expediency of providing for an air-line railroad between Washington and New-York. Laid over.

Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts, (Rep.,) introduced a bill to provide for an increase of Medical Officers in the Volunteer service.

On motion of Mr. GRIMES, of Iowa, (Rep.,) the joint resolution relative to the Penitentiary of the District of Columbia was then taken up.

Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts, moved as an amendment, that volunteers and soldiers confined in the Penitentiary of the District of Columbia, under sentence imposed by Court-Martial, be forthwith discharged, and such imprisonment shall not hereafter be allowed.

Mr. GRIMES said that he had a list of the soldiers sent to that Penitentiary. There were 96 of them, of which 48 were confined for insubordination or some trivial offence, 19 for desertion, 3 for neglect of duty, 7 for the violation of the 54th article of war, which was treading on grass, etc., 6 for mutiny, consisting in refusing to go and face the enemy without weapons 2 for assault and battery, 1 for forgery, 3 for larceny, and the others for trivial offences. Only four out of the whole were confined there for offences which are considered criminal by the civil code, yet these men were sent there from six months to five years.

Mr. HARRIS, of New-York, (Rep.,) hoped the resolution would pass. He had just returned from the Penitentiary, where he found respectable citizens from his own State confined for the merest offense. It was time this thing should be stopped.

Mr. WILSON spoke further in favor of the resolution. He said men were consigned there as felons for scarcely any offense at all, and thus were disgraced without just cause for it.

The amendment was adopted, and the resolution passed.

At 1 o'clock the Senate resolved itself into a High Court of Impeachment, for the trial of WEST H. HUMPHREYS.

The members of the House of Representatives, coming in a body, took seats on the floor of the Senate.

The Managers on the part of the House took seats in front of the desk prepared for them.

The Secretary of the Senate read to the Court the return made by the Sergeant-at-Arms to the summons issued to WEST H. HUMPHREYS, that he could not be found.

The Sergeant-at-Arms then made a proclamation calling on WEST H. HUMPHREYS to appear, and answer the charges made against him.

No answer being made,

Mr. BINGHAM, of Ohio, (Rep.,) on the part of the House, moved that further proceedings in this case of impeachment be postponed until Thursday, the 26th day of June, 1862.

This was agreed to by the Court, by the following vote:

Yeas, 35; Nays, 4.

NAYS—Messrs. Collamer, Hale, Howard and Lane, of Indiana.

The members of the House and its Managers then retired.

Mr. FOSTER, of Connecticut, (Rep.,) moved that the proceedings be published in the newspapers at Washington, and also in the papers at Nashville, Tenn., and that this Court stand adjourned until the 26th of June, with notice, by way of proclamation, to WEST H. HUMPHREYS, that he may then appear here before the Court to answer the charges made by the House of Representatives.

The Court then adjourned until the 26th of June, 1862.

The bill from the House to prohibit Slavery in the Territories was taken up on motion of Mr. WADE.

Mr. CARLILE of Virginia, (Union,) asked if the bill would interfere with the Indians who had treaty stipulations.

Mr. WADE of Ohio, (Rep.,) said "No," as the Indians are now.

The bill was then passed by the following vote—Yeas, 28; Nays, 10:

NAYS—Messrs. Carlile, Davis, Kennedy, Latham, McDougal, Nesmith, Powell, Saulsbury, Stark, Wright.

On motion of Mr. LATHAM, of California, (Opp.,) the Pacific Railroad bill was taken up and ordered to be printed with the amendments, and was then postponed until to-morrow.

On motion of Mr. DAVIS, of Kentucky, (Union,) the bill prescribing an additional oath for grand and petit jurors, was taken up.

Mr. CARLILE thought the passage of such a bill now as of very doubtful expediency, and moved to postpone it until the first Monday in December.

The motion was rejected, and after further discussion the bill was passed by yeas 30, nays 5.

On motion of Mr. WILSON, the Senate then went into Executive session, and on the opening of the doors again, adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 9.

Mr. BERNHISEL, Delegate from Utah, presented the Constitution of Utah, together with a memorial asking for the admission of Utah into the Union on an equal footing with the original States. Referred to the Committee on Territories.

The Tax bill, with sundry amendments, was returned from the Senate, ordered to be printed, and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. WICKLIFFE, of Kentucky, (Union,) offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to inform the House whether Gen. HUNTER has organized and equipped a regiment of blacks in South Carolina, &c. Adopted.

Mr. VALLANDIGHAM, of Ohio, (Dem.,) offered the following:

Resolved, That this House has heard with sincere satisfaction of the evacuation of Corinth and the occupation of it by our army without the loss of life, and that the thanks of this house are due to Maj.-Gen. HALLECK and the other brave men under him for this signal achievement; and, moreover, that in common with the whole country, this House would rejoice to see the Constitution as it is, and the Union as it was, maintained and restored everywhere, without any further effusion of fraternal blood.

Mr. VALLANDIGHAM demanded the previous question on the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. BLAKE, of Ohio, (Rep.,) moved to refer the resolution to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. MCKNIGHT, of Pennsylvania, (Rep.,) made a similar motion.

The Speaker decided the motions out of order.

The House by only 35 members having voted to sustain the previous question, upon the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. VALLANDIGHAM said: As the House has refused to adopt the resolution without hesitation I will withdraw the demand for the previous question, that the resolution may be debated. Whereupon, under the rule, the subject went over.

Mr. HUTCHINS', of Ohio, (Rep.,) resolution was agreed to by 66 against 48, repealing the resolution heretofore adopted proposing to purchase from GALES & SEATON certain sets of Annals of Congress and Register of Debates at a cost of over $35,000.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Opp.,) offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President be requested, if, in his opinion, it is not incompatible with the public interest, to submit to this House whatever information he possesses concerning the relations existing between this country and foreign Powers.

Mr. COX said, in offering this resolution, that he was following a precedent which, by the advices received in the last steamer, "has been set in the English Parliament," calling for all communications between the English Government and the Federal and Confederate Governments. While he could confidently assure the House that the most friendly understanding existed between the United States and the European Powers, yet the correspondence called for would, he thought, disclose the fact that, upon every reason growing out of international comity, the time had come for European Governments here to revoke their recognition of the insurgency here "as a belligerent Power." Whatever our opinion might be as to the time during which the war would continue, there was one thing now sure—the culminating point had been reached. The insurgents had failed to maintain themselves before the world, and, with the use of civil counsels, the restoration of the National authority was assumed. This fact is being recognized abroad. Its consequence ought to be the abrogation of the belligerent rights granted to the rebellion.

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. BINGHAM, of Ohio, (Rep.,) offered a resolution, which was adopted, that the House will this day resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole, and attend the trial for the impeachment of Judge HUMPHREYS.

The House, in accordance with the above resolution, resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole, Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, (Rep.,) in the Chair, and then proceeded to the Senate in a body.

When the members returned to the House, Mr. WASHBURNE briefly reported the proceedings in the Senate and the continuance of the impeachment case till the 26th of June, 1862.

Mr. ANCONA, of Pennsylvania, (Opp.,) offered a resolution authorizing and directing the Secretary of War to release, on their taking the oath of allegiance, all prisoners taken in the service of the so-called Confederate States, if they can make satisfactory exhibit of impressment. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. MCPHERSON, of Pennsylvania, (Rep.,) offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the President to state whether the causes which have delayed and are delaying the organization of the Medical Department, in accordance with the act of April last, are such as to require additional legislation, and, if so, what.

[NOTE.—The act referred to authorizes any Medical Inspector to discharge from the service soldiers or enlisted men, with their consent, in the permanent hospitals, &c., where there are now many who are willing to be discharged, and whom it is not desirable to retain in the service.]

Mr. NIXON, of Connecticut, (Rep.,) offered a resolution that, in the judgment of the House, the Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy should instruct all of his officers commanding districts in the rebel States to issue a proclamation that the army of the Republic will be subsisted, as far as practicable, upon the property of all those in rebellion, and those who give aid and comfort to the enemies of the United States.

The resolution was adopted by 83 against 39.

Mr. JULIAN, of Indiana, (Rep.,) introduced a bill to repeal the Fugitive Slave law. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. JULIAN then offered a resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to report a bill for the repeal of that law.

Mr. HOLMAN, of Indiana, (Rep.,) moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Motion carried by 68 against 51.

FROM BURNSIDE'S DIVISION.

The Released Prisoners—The Sick Left in Hospital at Newbern—Division Reviews—Mails via Canal from Norfolk—Accidents from Drowning—A Heroic Slave.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEWBERN, N. C., Tuesday, June 3, 1862.

Two hundred of the Salisbury prisoners, less one, arrived by the steamer Eagle, on Sunday night, from Washington, N. C. One died on the way to Tarboro. They include the letter R, excepting eleven. The remainder, numbering over four hundred, will come forward by the steamer Guide, which is waiting at Washington for their arrival, when she will come here and receive these on board, and proceed with them to New-York. Among those on board the Eagle are W. SYDNEY RICE, Sergeant of the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment, who appears in good health; Corporal PINTO, of a New-York Regiment, and Sergeant ARTEMAS ROBINSON, of Maine.

They were inspected by Dr. J. H. NOYES, Post-Surgeon of the Craven-street Hospital, who took fifteen of them to that institution who were too ill of scurvy and other disorders to proceed on the voyage. It was indeed a pitiful sight to see these wrecks of brave men dragging themselves along on crutches and canes, covered only by the remnant of garments still clinging to their persons, to find an asylum in the hospital, where they must remain until restored health will permit them to go forward to their friends. They will be well cared for. Such of them as require it will be provided with clothing.

LIST OF SICK PRISONERS RELEASED AND SENT TO CRAVEN-STREET HOSPITAL FROM STEAMER EAGLE.

Admitted June 1—Wm. Baxter, Fourth Ohio Cavalry; James F. Adams, First Virginia Cavalry; Geo. McCabe, Third Ohio; Samuel Pearcy, Ninth Kentucky; Sergeant McDonald, Sixth Ohio; Henry Pearce, First Maryland; J. L. Palmerton, Eleventh Ohio; E. C. Newton, Seventh Ohio; George Rosenburgh, Hospital Steward, in charge of above prisoners.

Admitted June 2—C. W. Platt, 27th New-York Regiment; John Miller, 32d Ohio; Joseph Murphing, 14th New-York; S. Marshall, 6th Ohio; F. Ratter, 2d Wisconsin; Charles North, 2d Indiana Cavalry; A. W. Pepper, 14th New-York; Paul Neumiller, 2d Cavalry; Daniel Perry, 32d New-York; Sergeant Alonzo J. Young, 1st Minnesota; Mike McDonald, 1st Kentucky.

There was a division parade on Saturday of Gen. RENO'S command, which was one of the finest military displays we have enjoyed since the troops have occupied Newbern. They formed on three of the main avenues leading into the town, and were reviewed by Gen. BURNSIDE and staff with the brigade commanders. Gov. STANLY rode by the side of the General during the review, mounted on a splendid charger.

Companies I, E and K, of the One Hundred and Third New-York, has been detailed to duty at Hatteras. Major QUINTON, of the same regiment, has been Court-martialed for uttering treasonable or disloyal sentiments, and was yesterday, I learn, sentenced, as part of the decree of punishment, to close confinement in Fort Macon for six months. The sentence has not yet been confirmed. Capt. D'ORVILL goes to New-York to recruit Company C, same regiment.

The first direct communication with Norfolk and Fortress Monroe, by the way of the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal, was by the steamer Port Royal, one of Capt. HAMMOND'S vessels, which brought New-York papers of the 29th of May. The fact has attracted the attention of Gen. BURNSIDE, who is considering the plan of establishing daily communication with Gen. MCCLELLAN'S Division by this route. It would also give us news regularly in forty-eight hours from New-York via Norfolk, Roanoke and Hatteras.

The weather is very hot, and an occasional accident occurs from bathing in the rivers. Corp. QUINN, belonging to the Twenty-seventh Massachusets, while bathing, yesterday morning, near the encampment, disappeared, and his body could not be found by the most careful search. It was supposed that he must have been carried off by an alligator. I saw and shot at one of these creatures, only two days ago, which was ten feet long. He was leisurely inspecting the fleet, which is anchored not over forty rods from the wharves of the town.

A private belonging to the Fifty-first New-York, whose name I have not learned, was drowned yesterday while bathing in the Trent. His cries for help attracted attention on the opposite shore of the river, and a colored man plunged in and swam with all haste across the river to rescue the drowning man. Before he could reach the spot, the poor fellow sank to the bottom. Intent upon his heroic errand, the colored man, on reaching the place where he last saw the struggling form of the soldier, dove down, and finding the body lying upon the bottom, placed his head beneath it, and in another moment was seen bearing the lifeless form upon his shoulder to the shore.

The business of hunting for fugitive slaves still continues in the town, under the auspices of the new Governor. The Harbor-master declines to act as slave-hunter on board of vessels leaving this port, and some more accommodating person will probably be appointed to that duty.

The news of the occupation of Corinth by our forces, and the investment of Richmond, by which the railroads have been occupied, causes great joy here. The prompt response to the call of the President, and the rush of troops to Washington, also awakens enthusiasm.

I have just heard that the body of Corporal QUINN has been found. Alligator story spoiled.

It is understood that Gov. STANLY will soon proceed to Raleigh, in order to communicate with the Convention now in session there.

Weather hot, and affairs unchanged. E. S.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases, when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb, unless his remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians, in regard to some pitiful patient, who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great, that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it; and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 5 three-cent stamps—300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

BUSINESS CHANCES.

IMPORTANT TO CAPITALISTS, MANUFACTURERS, AND THOSE DESIRING WATER POWER, RECEIVER'S SALE OF LANDS AND WATER POWER, At Walden, Orange County, N. Y.

By virtue of an order of the Supreme Court, will be sold at Walden, Orange County, on SATURDAY, June 14,

at 12 o'clock at noon, the water power known as the Falls of the Walkill.

The total fall is 40 feet. The discharge per hour is 1,270,000 cubic feet, and the water can be used twice. The shores are of rock, and present a suitable declivity for the erection of mills.

There is a canal now built in front of the factory sites, 600 feet in length. There is a dam a short distance above the Grand Falls, forming the "Upper Pond," three feet high, made for the purpose of directing the water.

The Walkill affords a permanent supply of water, and on account of the extent of the swamps at its sources, the supply is steady: not subject to be injuriously lowered by a drought, or raised by a freshet.

There will be sold at the same time, a farm of about 70 acres on the west side, and also 20 acres on the east side of the Falls. The lands are fertile, and are desirably located for building sites.

Walden is situated 11 miles from Newburgh, on a first-class road of easy grades, in the midst of a rich agricultural region, and contains at present a population of about 1,000. The sale is made to close a trust, and will be peremptory.

Terms of payment liberal.

AMUSEMENTS.

Academy of Music.—Mr. Ullman is about to step into the ring of musical management once again. His career as an operatic manager has been extraordinary enough. Here he has culminated, and there his pecuniary affairs have been in decadence. Now, he has made money, and immediately after he has failed to pay both his artists and outside employes. At one moment up, and at another moment down, he has been the veritable Jack in the box of musical speculators. If we are not mistaken, his last speculation was an unsuccessful one. Consequently, we should not be astonished if his present attempt was to make a veritable hit. In the first place, his prices are reduced to the same popular sum which we had opera for at Castle Garden many seasons since—so many, indeed, that, being youthful, we prefer being excused from remembering the exact period. In the next place, he offers to us a plethora of attraction. There are two new prima donnas besides Miss Kellogg and Mme. D'Angri—the last of whom is, with the exception of Alboni, the greatest contralto that has ever visited this country. These novelties are Madame Comte Borchard and Madame Hermann. The first of these was the leading soprano at New-Orleans, and we should judge, from her success when she sung at Boston last year, and our personal knowledge of her vocalism, will prove a decidedly profitable engagement. Madame Hermann, although announced to make her first appearance "upon any stage" in our Academy, is not altogether a novice to the operatic scenes. She has recently appeared at Cincinnati and other of our Western cities, and we argue from what we have heard of her, will confirm the reputation she acquired there. In addition we have Brignoli, Susini,—whose recent concert tour has not proved a success, demonstrating the fact that individuals may be very excellent vocalists and at the same time very unsuccessful musical managers—with Signor Amodio, the brother of the late baritone. Signor Abella is to be the conductor, and we understand that Theodore Thomas once more will assume the position of leader in the orchestra. But opera is not the only thing which Mr. Ullmann offers to the public for the limited price he announces in his advertisement. He also gives us Gottschalk. This alone ought to make the six operatic evenings which he announces for such a minimum admission indisputably attractive, inasmuch as the public have heretofore paid twice as much to hear Gottschalk without opera. The last attraction is Herrmann, the Prestidigitateur, who will prestidigitate at the conclusion of the opera. The sale of tickets commences to-day.

Laura Keene's.—A Summer season was commenced here last evening by Miss Maggie Mitchell; a piece new to the City, and called "Fanchon, the Cricket," being produced for tde occasion. "Fanchon" is an adaptation from the German; and, while retaining certain faults characteristic of the German drama—prolixity of dialogue and lack of incident, for instance—it is still a play of great interest and inculcative of the most unexceptionable kind moral. Fanchon, the heroine of the play, and, of course, the part appropriated by Miss Maggie Mitchell, is a mischievous imp of a girl—a German Good-for-Nothing or Teutonic Topsy—whose mother has done something wrong, and who is, therefore, the scorn and byword of her native village, and the especial victim of a wierd old grandmother's discipline. Notwithstanding the unfavorable circumstances that surround her, however, Fanchon, under the subtile influence of love, gradually develops a goodness of disposition and general bent towards virtuous principles, whereby she eventually gains the heart of the man of her choice, and triumphs gloriously over the envy, hatred and uncharitableness of the rustic community of which she had previously been a despised and rejected member.

Nearly all the attraction of this piece centres in Miss Maggie Mitchell's own person and performance. She is very capably supported by Messrs. A. H. Davenport, J. W. Collier, J. H. Stoddard, Mrs. Stoddard, Mrs. Grattan and others; but she herself almost monopolizes the attention and applause of her audience. And a very charming little actress Miss Maggie Mitchell is, without doubt. She sometimes reminds one of Agnes Robertson in tone and manner, it is true; but the reminder is not unpleasant, and it evidently is unintentional. There is a naturalness about her—a sparkling, quaint originality—that is positively refreshing. If we remember rightly, Miss Mitchell played an engagement in New-York once before; but she could not have done herself justice then in the parts she chose to play, or she must have secured a more prominent hold a Metropolitan favor. In the future she can scarcely fail to be an ever-acceptable addition to the galaxy of stars that twinkle in our histrionic firmament, at whatever time of year it pleases her to shine upon us. Miss Mitchell's reappearance was welcomed by a crowded house, and she was several times enthusiastically called before the curtain.

The New Cremorne Garden.—As soon as we have a little settled Summer weather, the place of all others to which a perspiring public will be apt to go for evening relaxation will be the new Cremorne Garden, opened last evening by Mr. J. M. Nixon. The Cremorne occupies the place formerly known as Palace Garden—an eligible spot, fortunately situated, well patronized under its former name and management, still more likely to be patronized under the new régime of Nixon. Mr. Nixon proved, when he had Niblo's, two years ago, that he possessed felicitous ideas on the subject of warm weather and the wants of a pleasure-loving community during periods of thermometrical elevation. What he did then, with limited means, and surrounded by obstinate circumstances, he will be able to do in infinitely better style with all the appliances which he found ready to hand in the place of his present selection. The Gardens have been fitted up in excellent taste, and a wonderful combination of entertainment is provided to tempt into their shades crowds of unprecedented dimensions. Of the artists engaged to do the musical and terpsichorean part of programme, we need only mention the names of Carlotta Patti, Madame Strakosch, Signor Sbriglia, the "beautiful" Cubas, Mdlle. Theleur, Senor Ximenes and M. Wiethoff, to show that both will be executed with as near an approach to perfection as possible. Mr. Thomas Baker, of Laura Keene's theatre, is engaged as orchestral conductor. All kinds of refreshments are supplied in the Gardens, save only liquors of intoxicating character, which Mr. Nixon wisely prohibits.

The Brooklyn Academy.—Miss Bateman makes an only appearance at the Brooklyn Academy of Music this evening, appearing in "The Hunchback." She is to be supported by Mr. J. W. Wallack, Jr., Mr. Edwin Adams and Miss Madeline Henriques. Miss Henriques plays Helen, for the first time, and, if we may venture to judge in advance, we think she will play it charmingly. This performance may be looked upon by the Brooklynites as a positive treat, none the less enjoyable because unexpected.

THE WAR IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Pursuit of the Flying Rebels by Gen. Halleck's Army.

Beauregard Supposed to be Pushing for Columbus, Miss.

Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas Troops Deserting by Thousands.

GREAT DISTRESS FOR FOOD.

Louisville, Ky., Monday, June 9.

Our forces now occupy Baldwin, Guntown, Jackson and Bolivar.

Railroad repairs are progressing rapidly.

The enemy passed Guntown last night, retreating southward from Baldwin. It is estimated that 20,060 have deserted since they left Corinth, mostly from Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas regiments. All the regiments from these States passed down closely guarded on both sides by Mississippians and Alabamians.

It is believed by country people that Beauregard cannot enter Columbus with half the troops he brought away from Corinth. The whole country, North and East of Baldwin, is full of armed soldiers, returning to Tennessee and Kentucky.

Gen. Pope telegraphs from the advance, that the prisoners who first desired to be exchanged, now want to take the oath.

The enemy drove and carried off everything for miles around. The wealthiest families are destitute and starving. Women and children are crying for food, and all the males are forced into the army.

The enemy is represented as greatly suffering for food.

LATEST NEWS FROM MEMPHIS.

The Excitement Subsided—Another Rebel Steamer Captured, &c.

Memphis, Saturday, June 7.

Since the formal surrender of the city yesterday, and the posting of pickets throughout the city, the excitement of the people has subsided. All was quiet during last night, and the only event of this morning was the capture of the rebel steamer Check, which eluded the fleet yesterday above the city by running up a slough out of sight. She was brought down this morning. Nothing has been heard of the boat Van Dorn, which is the only boat of the rebel fleet that escaped yesterday.

Memphis, Saturday, June 7.

This morning the rebel tug Mark R. Cheek was discovered up a slough above the city, where she had run for concealment, and surrendered to our tug Sampson. About a thousand rebel cannon left on the cars last night, for Grenada, Miss.

The railroads have all stopped running to the city. The Memphis and Charleston Railroad is badly cut up, and all its rolling stock has been sent South. All the stock of the Memphis and Ohio Road is here. Great efforts are being made to shield public property by private claims. About 2,000 bales of cotton were burned.

Col. Thomas H. Kasson was the military Commandant here, but Ex-Senator and Acting Brigadier-Gen. Fitch, of Indiana, is in command of the City now. Since the formal surrender, at 3 P. M. yesterday, and the posting of pickets through the city, the excitement among the people subsided, and all is quiet. The new Postmaster for Memphis is now in Cairo, and will be here soon.

The following is a special to the St. Louis Republican.

Memphis, Friday, June 6—4 P. M.

At this hour, just as the dispatch-boat is leaving, all is quiet. All the rebel flags known to be flying in the city have been removed, and no difficulties have occurred.

Reports are current that Commodore Hollins, when he received news of the destruction of Montgomery's fleet, burned his vessels, four in nnmber, which were some distance below here.

Over five thousand people lined the bluffs here, to witness the fight.

This morning all the stores are closed, but many will be opened to-morrow. The citizens seem anxious to have trade renewed with them. Very little trouble is apprehended in holding the city.

Large quantities of cotton were burned, but it is said there is a great amount of sugar and molasses that has been secreted by its owners.

One rebel regiment was stationed a mile below the city, but has disbanded, and the men are now endeavoring to get home.

The fleet will start at once for Vicksburgh. The loss of the rebels in the engagement was upwards of 500 killed, many of whom belonged to the Gen. Lovell whom were drowned.

Cairo, Monday, June 9.

A special dispatch from Memphis, dated 8th, says that the casualties in the late fight are estimated at 150 killed, and 300 to 400 wounded.

Jeff. Thompson witnessed the fight on horseback in front of the Gayoso House. The remains of his army, with the stampeding citizens, were in the cars, not far from the city. When, one after another of the rebel boats sunk, and the flagship took flight, Jeff. left.

Two of our mortar men managed to elude the guard and got on shore on Friday night, and were killed in a row of their own getting up.

Citizens to the number of two thousand have reported themselves, armed and equipped, to the Provost Marshal's office, for service to prevent the destruction of property by a mob, which they seemed to fear more than the Natonals. It was expected that the city would be fired, but the prompt action of the peaceable citizens, with the Colonel commanding, and the Provost guard prevented it.

As it was, the depot of the Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad was broken open by a mob of men and women, but before they could take anything away a detachment of the military arrived, and dispersed them. The stores in the depot were yesterday removed ro a place of safety. Capt. Gould, Provost Marshal, has established his headquarters at the Planters' Bank building.

Col. Fitch, Commander of the post, received a notice last evening that the United States has taken possession of the city for the purpose of asserting the supremacy of the laws protecting private and public property. Residents who may have fled are exhorted to return. Merchants and others are requested to reopen their stores and shops, excepting those dealing in intoxicating liquors, who are forbidden to resume their traffic under penalty of having stock destroyed.

The Mayor and Common Council will continue to exercise their functions; the military authorities cooperating for enforcing all proper ordinances, unless an exigency shall arise rendering Martial law imperative. It is hoped and believed, however, that nothing will occur to render this step necessary.

Sales of liquor have been prohibited here since December, except by druggists and physicians in prescriptions.

Funeral Oration of Col. Riker.

THE BURIAL TO TAKE PLACE TO-DAY.

Yesterday afternoon the Presbyterian Church in One Hundred and Twenty-seventh-street was crowded with the friends of the late Col. Riker, who were present to hear the funeral oration delivered over the body. The members of Mechanic Hook and Ladder Company, of which deceased was an honorary member, were present. The time fixed for the funeral ceremonies was 3 o'clock, but long before that hour the small church was thronged to excess; indeed, so great was the number of the people present that the sidewalk in front of the building was impassable.

Rev. Ezra L. Gillet conducted the service, and the Rev. Dr. Edwin F. Hatfield delivered the funeral oration. He spoke highly of the many virtues of the deceased, and eulogized his bravery and gallantry at the battle of Fair Oaks.

The coffin containing the remains of the late Colonel, with his face exposed, was placed in front of the pulpit. It was covered with the National flag, and decked with wreaths of immortelles. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the congregation slowly passed by the coffin, and gazed upon the face of the dead.

To-day the body will lie in state in the Governor's room, City Hall, from 10 A. M. till 4 P. M., when the body will be conveyed to Greenwood under military escort.
